MOSCOW, KYIV BLAME EACH OTHER AS UKRAINE DAM PARTIALLY DESTROYED

The Nova Kakhovka dam in Russian-controlled Kherson region in southern Ukraine collapsed on Tuesday, endangering the lives of thousands

EMERGENCY EVACUATIONS UNDERWAY

Ukraine accused Russian forces of blowing up the dam, while Russian officials blamed Ukrainian military strikes for its collapse. It was not immediately clear whether either side benefits from it since both Russian- and Ukrainian-held territories are at risk of flooding. Russia and Ukraine have both begun emergency evacuations. Neither side has reported any casualties so far | P12

- The reservoir created by the Soviet-era dam on the Dnieper River holds 18 million cubic metres of water. The dam also provides cooling water to the nuclear power station at Zaporizhzhia, which is under Russian control
- Kyiv says the Dnieper River has been contaminated with 150 tonnes of industrial lubricants after the breach and more oil is likely to be leaked

CBI team begins questioning Rly officials at site

ASISH MEHTA AND AMIT MUKHERJEE @Bhubaneswar/New Delhi

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) on Tuesday began its probe into the Bahanaga railway accident, one of the deadliest of train crashes in the country that claimed 288 lives and left more than 1,100 passengers injured on June 2.

A team consisting of about eight CBI officers visited the accident site at Bahanaga Bazar railway station in Balasore district. It reportedly questioned a signalman and held discussions with Balasore GRP officers. The CBI officers collected information related to the mishap and shifting of dead bodies. The team spent more than an hour at the site.

Sources pointed out that none of the railway staff on duty on the fateful evening are on the run and all will cooperate with the CBI.

Earlier in the day, the Special Crime unit-I of the premier agency formally booked a case of criminal negligence based on the FIR registered by Government Railway Police (GRP). The GRP had not named any railway employee and said persons responsible for the accident will be identified during the course of investigation.

The IPC charges filed by the CBI in the FIR include causing hurt by an act endangering life (Section 337 IPC), causing grievous hurt through rash or negligent acts endangering human life (Section 338), causing death by negligence (Section 304A), acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention (Section 34), along with relevant sections of the Railways Act for endangering the lives of passengers through willful acts or omission (Section 153), rash or negligent acts (Section 154), and endangering the lives of government servants and the public (Section 175).

Sources said the CBI team will examine all angles including negligence on the part of railway staff, mechanical error as well as conspiracy. It may meet DGP Sunil Kumar Bansal on Wednesday.

This is not for the first time that CBI has been tasked to investigate a rail accident. In 2010, the Centre had ordered a CBI probe into derailment of Jnaneswari Express, which claimed 148 lives. The CBI had filed chargesheets against 23 persons for damaging tracks by removing pandrol clips. This had led to derailment.

Spl wing to curb moral policing in M'luru soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Tuesday said that an "Anti-Communal Wing' (ACW) will be set up in Mangaluru city police limits soon to prevent moral policing.

Addressing reporters after holding a review meeting with senior police officers of Western Range, Dr Parameshwara said people in the coastal region are living in fear due to moral policing and communal disturbances. The situation might worsen if tough measures are not taken to prevent them.

Moral policing can be prevented through existing laws. "If it is not checked, it will not only bring a bad name to the police but also to the state. At any cost, we will not allow moral policing," he said.

"The police commissioner will prepare a roadmap and set guidelines for the wing. The aim of the wing is to prevent moral policing and ensure communal harmony. The officers will visit colleges and raise awareness against moral policing. Some of the accused in moral policing cases have been externed from the district. The wing will take such decisions," he said.

To a query, the minister said right now the wing will be set up in Mangaluru as moral policing cases are high here. If required, the wing will be set up in other places too.

Meanwhile, Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) leader Sharan Pumpwell tweeted, "Hope this will reduce oppression by Islamic jihadis on Hindu society."

Dark net sale: NCB busts int'l drug syndicate, seize 15,000 blots of LSD

ENS @ New Delhi

THE NCB on Tuesday said it has busted a major drug syndicate operating through the Dark Net and seized 14,961 LSD 'blots' worth about ₹10 crore in the international market. Six persons have been arrested in this connection.

'Blot' is a small piece of paper, half the size of a postal stamp, which makes it hard for authorities to track. It is used by peddlers and addicts for discreetly carrying and consuming the drug. "This operation marks the largest-ever seizure of LSD blots in a single operation within our country. Six individuals in their mid to late twenties have been arrested thus far, and we are actively pursuing another cartel," said Gyaneshwar Singh, deputy director general (northern region), NCB.

According to sources, the six arrested individuals consisted of students and youngsters seeking "easy money" while maintaining anonymity. NCB sources said the seized LSD originated from Poland and the Netherlands and the syndicate trafficked it across various states, accepting payments in cryptocurrency and through UPI. The contraband was shipped using courier and postal networks.

BSF jawan killed in Manipur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

DASHING hopes of an early end to violence in Manipur, militants fatally shot a BSF jawan and injured two Assam Rifles personnel in the wee hours of Tuesday at Serou in Kakching district.

The slain soldier, Ranjit Yadav, was from the BSF's 163rd battalion. He was injured in the gunfight with suspected Kuki insurgents and was evacuated to a local hospital where he was declared dead.

The exchange of fire between the two sides took place in a school in Serou, officials said.

Reports said suspected Kuki miscreants resorted to indiscriminate firing on BSF troops deployed at the Serou Practical High School around 4.15 am.

According to a defence ministry statement, additional troops were rushed to Serou and adjoining Sugnu following multiple incidents of violence, arson and firing in the past 48 hours. "As a result of extensive area domination operations by Assam Rifles, BSF and police, intermittent exchange of fire took place between security forces and the insurgents during the night of 05/06 June. Security forces took adequate measures to prevent insurgents from breaking contact and running away to nearby areas," it said.

Officials believe the insurgents would have suffered some casualties.

Two AK series rifles, one 51mm mortar, two carbines, ammunition and war-like stores were recovered during preliminary search. The forces will continue operations till the entire area is sanitised.

BELLANDUR LAKE

Detergents, shampoos causing froth: Study

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU'S Bellandur Lake made international headlines for frothing and catching fire in 2015. This even made courts take note of the issue and issue a series of directions to the authorities. All this apart, the lake continues to froth every monsoon.

The issue also forced the state government to take up several measures to control the froth and fire. The National Green Tribunal formed a committee to resolve the issue.

Scientists of Indian Institute of Science (IISc), Bengaluru, who have been monitoring the lake for the last four years, said three reasons led to foaming.

In their research report, they stated that a single type of surfactant commonly used in most households as detergents and shampoos played a dominant role in lake foaming.

A team from Centre for Sustainable Technologies (CST) in IISc concluded that one of the reasons for foaming is untreated sewage entering the lake. "The pollutants in sewage take approximately 15 days to spread and a part of the organic material gets degraded in the absence of oxygen and settles down as sludge," according to the report.

BBMP TO GET MAKEOVER FOR BETTER ADMIN

DKS meets committee to kickstart process, wants Palike to be citizen-centric

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government is likely to take up restructuring of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) for better administration. If everything goes well, Bengaluru could have multi municipalities, with an overseeing authority. However, the city will not be divided, only the Corporation will be split, which is considered better for quick administration.

Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar met former chief secretary BS Patil, who was heading the BBMP Restructuring Committee along with other committee members, including former BBMP Commission Siddaiah and V Ravichander, on Tuesday. The committee, constituted in 2014, recommended restructuring of the Palike.

Sources in the government said the members briefed him about their report on BBMP restructuring. "Shivakumar seems clear that the current model is not working, and there is a need to make it citizen-centric that eventually helps build Brand Bengaluru," sources said. At present, the head office is at NR Square, and officials from other zones, including Mahadevapura, Bommanahalli and Rajarajeshwarinagar located on the outskirts, travel to the head office for meetings. Even the public has to travel long distances for any clarifications.

The committee had recommended 400 wards with smaller and equal population. It had also proposed to bring Bangalore Development Authority, Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Committee and BWSSB under Greater Bangalore Authority, which will have smaller municipalities within the present BBMP limits. The BJP government did not take up the recommendations, instead it went ahead and made 243 wards from the original 198 wards, and even passed a separate Act for BBMP in 2020.

BBMP sources said if the government is keen to take up the recommendations, BBMP polls might get delayed further. There has been no Council in Bengaluru since September 2020.

BWSSB appeals to DKS to increase water tariff

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BWSSB officials on Tuesday explained the precarious financial position of Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board to Bengaluru Development Minister D K Shivakumar, and impressed on the latter the need to increase water tariff, which has remained unchanged since 2014. The minister said he would examine their request.

Shivakumar visited Cauvery Bhavan in the evening to familiarise himself with the various projects undertaken by the Board. BWSSB chairman S Jayaram, who made a presentation, pointed out: "The Board gets monthly revenue of Rs 110 crore, but its monthly expenditure works out to nearly Rs 140 crore. With the latest hike in electricity tariff, BWSSB will have to spend Rs 90 crore towards electricity charges. While there has been an annual increase in power tariff, the water tariff has remained the same since 2014. A proposal to hike it is pending with the government."

An official at the meeting said the minister assured them he would examine the proposal. Another official said 10 hikes had been effected in the power tariff in the last nine years.

Jayaram explained that the city presently receives 1,450 million litres of water per day (MLD) and when Cauvery V state is commissioned, it would receive another 775 MLD.

HRBR LAYOUT

Residents are elated about finally getting justice in this long-drawn battle

No demolition, DC rules in favour of 222 allottees

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

IN all, 222 allottees of HRBR Layout heaved a collective sigh of relief as demolition orders against their sites, issued eight years ago, have finally been withdrawn. This follows orders issued by the deputy commissioner, Bengaluru Urban, in their favour on Saturday June 3.

It has virtually legalised their sites by stating that claimants to the property where the sites were formed had forged signatures and got consent on fabricated documents. It also called for the names of the claimants, Kunappa and Kuttappa, to be deleted from the revenue records.

The 222 residential and four CA sites in the Layout were formed by the BDA on the dried-up Channasandra tank in Banaswadi village in 1984-85. The Revenue Department, which owned all the lakes, never transferred the land to the BDA and this allowed encroachers to step in. Adding to their anxiety was a Karnataka High Court order on December 1, 2022 ruling in favour of the individuals who staked claim to the property.

Shyam Sundar, a house-owner, told TNIE, "We are all so relieved now. Nearly 150 families who had built their houses and were residing here received the shock of their lives when demolition orders were pasted outside their homes in January 2015 following an order by the tahsildar of Bengaluru East taluk. Residents have waged a bitter struggle since then to safeguard their legal properties."

Another resident, Wing Commander (retd) Thomas Babu, said, "We have got justice finally. The DC took into consideration the Forensic Science Lab report which showed the signatures as fake. I had personally been fighting since 2000 when the duo started issuing notices to me ordering me to vacate. I had been filing cases spending so much money on lawyers and so much of my time."

Resident Dwarkanath said, "The empty sites are full of snakes now. The BDA needs to put in place tree parks here so that it becomes public property and no one else can encroach them further."

TNIE had in its report on December 22, 2022, highlighted the anxiety faced by 150 families who had been allotted sites three decades ago. Following the report, former Bengaluru development minister KJ George had raised the issue during the Assembly session in Belagavi on December 28 that year.

Rising water level adds to foam: Study

WHEN more sewage enters the lake, the surface-active agent (surfactant) does not decompose and settles with the sludge. Chanakya HN, chief research scientist at CST and one of the authors of the study, said, "Imagine adding one full scoop of washing powder into a bucket of water. It will definitely foam given the right conditions." Sometimes, the concentration of this sludge is 200 times more than what enters the lake.

The second cause is heavy rains bringing in large quantities of water from the city into the lake. Though pollutants should dilute with rainwater, the foam in the lake increases due to the rise in water level which reactivates the surfactant sludge and trapping air bubbles that turn into foam.

Lakshminarayana Rao, associate professor at CST, said, "This is an important phenomenon that converts the surfactant-laden water into foam." Lastly, the research suggests that certain bacteria might be responsible for foam formation and stability, which the team will identify with more experiments.

'Stop sewage flow'

The team studied the water samples from the lake every month in the last four years. It recreated a lab model to track changes in the chemical composition of surfactants in different regions of the lake. "I had to go to the lake every month to collect water and foam samples, and conduct experiments," says Reshmi Das, PhD student at CST and first author of the study.

Scientists suggested that stopping the entry of untreated sewage into the lake is crucial to prevent the build-up of surfactants and sludge. Also, measures should be taken to remove the accumulated sludge from the lake before the onset of monsoon. According to the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board's latest report, between April 2022 and March 2023, Bellandur Lake was classified five times under 'D' category and seven times under 'E' category.

Illegal road on Hosakerehalli Lake will be probed: Girinath

BENGALURU: BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Tuesday said that an investigation will be launched into the planning and implementation of an illegal road construction project through the Hosakerehalli Lake. He said all officers and engineers involved in the case have already been suspended. Besides, a report on the issue has been given to the state government, and now an investigation has been carried out. "There was no need for a ramp-type road in the central part of the lake, which had also impacted the lake's ecology. There was no permission from the Tank Development Authority, hence, based on the report from Special Commissioner PN Ravindra, officials have been placed under suspension," said Girinath. He explained that a report had already been prepared about the road, which was not submitted to the government because the polls were on last month.

BMRCL for 77 km of new Metro lines

ENS @ Bengaluru

BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez has proposed three new Metro lines running to about 77 km, covering important parts of the city and its outskirts. He shared this proposal during a review meeting with Bengaluru Development Minister D K Shivakumar at the BMRCL head office in Shanti Nagar on Tuesday.

"A Metro-line from Whitefield to Hoskote via Katamanallur gate (17 km), an Inner Ring Road for 35 km which would run as a circle inside the Outer Ring Road, and a 25-km line from Old Airport Road via Marthahalli underpass to Varthur and then Kadugodi have been proposed in the meet by the MD," an official said. Parwez made a presentation on the ongoing projects of BMRCL. "The DPR for Phase-3A (Sarjapur to Hebbal) proposed in the state budget was being prepared. Phase-3 (JP Nagar to Kempapura and Hosahalli to Kadabgere) had been submitted to the government for approval and clarifications have been sought. They are being responded to," he said.

Airport line by June 2026

Later, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar told reporters that the Airport Line (Central Silk Board to K R Pura and K R Pura to KIA) will be commissioned by June 2026.

Giving a deadline for various other Metro lines, Shivakumar said that the Baiyappanahalli to K R Pura line will open by July this year, Kengeri to Challaghatta by August-September, Nagasandra to Madhavara by September-October. The Airport line will be ready by June 2026, and if required, it may take a couple of months more.

BMRCL has an operational revenue of Rs 48 crore every month. "The operational profit in it is just Rs 6 crore. I have asked BMRCL to generate non-fare revenue to boost their income. They are keen on considering advertisements inside and outside of Metro stations," Shivakumar said.

Asked about the status of Metro Phase-3, he said it was pending with the Centre. "I will go and meet the Minister (Hardeep Singh Puri) in person and expedite it," he said.

Palike set to transfer officials, proposal sent to govt, says chief commissioner

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has proposed the transfer of officers and staff who have been working in the same ward and department for a prolonged period, of at least a few years, and a proposal has been submitted to the state government to implement new guidelines in this regard.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath, who spoke to reporters at the BBMP head office, said there is a need for separate guidelines for the transfer of BBMP staffers and officers. Thus a proposal has been submitted to the state government to approve the 2021 guidelines. The current guidelines regarding transfer are outdated. "The officials who have been in contact with the people from the same wards for many years need to be changed. Especially, the change of the officials of A, B, C groups is very important. In this regard, a proposal has been submitted for the implementation of new guidelines for 2021, and it is likely to be approved soon," he said. With regard to allegations from Congress leader Ramesh Babu that Girinath allegedly allowed the NGO 'Chilume' to collect voters' private information and had appealed to the government for a probe, the latter stated there is no truth in the allegation that Chilume was allowed to collect the private information of voters. He contended that he performed his job transparently as the District Election Officer in Bengaluru.

MTP in minors: State must direct docs to report sexual abuse offences

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court said the state government must direct strict compliance with Section 19 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act by doctors who take up medical termination of pregnancy of minors, in extenuating circumstances by reporting child sexual offences to the jurisdictional Special Juvenile Police Unit.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while dismissing the petition filed by Dr Chandrashekar TB, working as obstetrician and gynaecologist at Prasanthi Hospital in Chikkamagaluru district, questioning the chargesheet filed against him for allegedly not reporting the sexual offence to the jurisdictional police, though he terminated the pregnancy of the minor.

"It is in public domain that several cases of heinous offences committed under the Act go unnoticed due to lack of information, as it is suppressed by the concerned. But, the fact is that the victims who are subjected to such assault by the accused, except in justifiable cases, get away by lack of reporting. Therefore, non-reporting snowballs into a serious offence," the judge observed.

Referring to the defence of the petitioner that he had no knowledge that the victim was only 12 years and 11 months, the judge said, "I decline to accept the said defence. The petitioner claims to be a gynaecologist having 35 years of practice. It is highly improbable that the petitioner, at the very look of the patient, did not get to know that the victim was of tender age of 12 years and 11 months, and had been subjected to sexual intercourse and become pregnant. A mere statement or wearing a saree at the time the victim entered the hospital is all a matter of evidence and trial... Defence of ignorance by the petitioner is a matter of trial."

"Though the offence under Section 21 of the Act attracts imprisonment for six months for violation of Section 19, the offence by its very nature is serious. Merely because it is six months, it cannot be said that the petitioner should be left off the hook at this stage. Being a responsible doctor having close to two score years of service as a gynaecologist, he ought to have been cautious and informed the concerned, as obtained under Section 19 of the Act. Having not done so is a serious dereliction", the court observed.

Dowry case after divorce notice maintainable: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE decision of a coordinate bench holding that a criminal case filed by a woman alleging cruelty and dowry harassment against her husband and in-laws would lose significance if it is filed after receiving a divorce notice, defeating the very purpose of Section 498A of the IPC or even complaints made under Section 12 of the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005, according to the High Court of Karnataka.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while dismissing a petition filed by man questioning the criminal proceedings initiated by his wife. Citing the order by the coordinate bench of the high court in a similar case in April 2023, the counsel of the petitioner submitted that the FIR should be quashed on the sole ground that it has been registered after receipt of the notice seeking dissolution of marriage.

The counsel of the petitioner contended that the woman has filed a case as a counter to the legal notice sent to her. There are no actions that would amount to offences under Section 498A of the IPC. The case loses its significance as it has been registered after the divorce notice had been sent, the counsel argued.

The court, however, said if the hyper-technical contention stated is accepted, it would act against the interests of women and the reason for which the provision was added. The court said the statements recorded during investigation of the complaint filed by the woman clearly indicate that an offence has been committed. The petitioner has also been accused of violating Section 307 (attempt to murder).

CJ opens areca unit in prison, says no to plastic

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Justice of Karnataka High Court Prasanna B Varale inaugurated the new Arecanut leaf products manufacturing unit inside the Central Prison at Parappana Agrahara, on the occasion of World Environment Day. An awareness programme was organised here on Monday.

As per the release, the inauguration of this unit is a positive sign towards promoting eco-friendly products and saying no to plastic. Three new machines were placed for production. Six prison inmates were deployed for the production of arecanut leaf plates and glasses.

Appreciating the handloom unit, the Chief Justice appealed to Vivek Subbareddy, president of Advocates' Association of Bangalore, to join hands with the jail authority to distribute uniforms manufactured in the prison to government schools. He encouraged the inmates to make the best use of skills learnt in prison to make a living.

He also visited the carpentry, handloom, bakery and kitchen sections in the prison and inaugurated the Environment Day programme by planting a sapling. Chief Justice Varale urged the gathering to plant more saplings to protect the environment for a better future.

B'luru hospital performs unique lung transplant successfully

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

APOLLO Hospitals, Bangalore, Department of Pulmonology, successfully performed a unique lung transplant on a 57-year-old patient suffering from a chronic lung disease in Bengaluru. The procedure was done with extensive skill, precision, teamwork, and tremendous effort from the medical professionals.

Meenakshi (name changed), 57, from Bengaluru, was initially admitted to Apollo Hospitals, Jayanagar about two years ago due to shortness of breath, and was diagnosed with interstitial lung disease (ILD), a condition characterised by stiffening of the lungs. Her condition worsened, necessitating constant oxygen support at home, disabling her from doing daily activities independently.

Recognising the severity of her condition, the medical team at Apollo Hospitals broached the subject of lung transplant, offering her a potential solution to improve quality of life.

A suitable donor contacted the day before Ugadi festival and was quickly admitted to the hospital for pre-transplant assessment. Thirty-six hours of intensive coordination finally led to successful bilateral lung transplant.

Dr Ravindra Mehta, Senior Consultant, Pulmonology and Interventional Pulmonology at Apollo Hospitals, who led the pulmonology team for the lung transplant, said the patient underwent thorough pre-procedure tests, while the donor lungs were assessed to ensure compatibility. A dedicated team of pulmonologists, surgeons, anesthesiologists, and critical care physicians came together and the surgeons performed the complex procedure, which lasted for 13 hours. Since the donor was an in-house patient at Apollo Hospitals, there was less ischaemia time for the donor organs, and no requirement for a transport green corridor. He added that the impact of this transplant on Meenakshi's life has been remarkable.

Woman techie killed by former lover

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 23-year-old woman from Hyderabad was found dead under mysterious circumstances at a flat in JB Nagar police station limits on Monday night. The victim's former live-in partner from Delhi is suspected to have murdered her. The incident came to light after the victim's roommate returned to the flat after work. The deceased is Akanksha Bidyasar, a native of Hyderabad. Police identified the suspect as Gurijala Arpith, 29, a computer science engineer from a university in Andhra Pradesh.

Arpith is suspected to have strangled Akanksha to death, and even made a futile attempt to make it look like a case of suicide. He tried to lift the body and hang it with a veil from the ceiling fan, but was unable to do so. Police initially thought it to be a case of unnatural death, however, clues obtained at the scene of crime confirmed that it was a case of murder. JB Nagar police registered a case of murder and are on the lookout for the accused.

Akanksha and Arpith reportedly first met at their workplace in Bengaluru, and soon moved in together. They had known each other for over two years. Akanksha joined another company and started working in the sales department, while Arpith, who was promoted, started out in the role of enterprises sales manager in Hyderabad. Akanksha moved in with a friend and was staying in a flat in Kodihalli in JB Nagar area. Arpith would come to the city to meet Akanksha. They often fought and also decided to part ways.

"On Monday evening, Arpith came to her apartment and it is suspected that they fought over some issue, and in a fit of rage killed her. The incident came to light when Akanksha's roommate came to the apartment. Four teams have been formed to trace him," said an officer who is part of the investigation.

Jurisdictional JB Nagar police registered a case of murder and are on the lookout for the accused. Further investigations are on.

JDS may not join Oppn alliance, hints Gowda

Former PM says focus on local body polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FORMER prime minister HD Deve Gowda hinted on Tuesday that his party might stay away from the Grand Alliance ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Gowda said that all parties have had associations with the BJP. "Show me one party which was not associated with the BJP either directly or indirectly," he said, and refused to deliberate on the prevailing political situation in the country. He also ducked the question on opposition parties wanting him to lead the alliance.

Gowda's response comes after Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar tried to forge an anti-BJP front at the national level. Gowda made it clear that his party's focus is now on the upcoming zilla panchayat, taluk panchayat and BBMP elections. "Party workers should not be disheartened by the Assembly election results. Focus on the upcoming polls. Know your strengths and make strategies based on those. Decide on which constituencies we should contest," he said.

The JDS supremo may not contest in the Parliamentary polls, as "I am 91 years old. The committee will decide who will contest".

Meanwhile, former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy slammed the Congress government for making guarantees to win elections, and then introducing several conditions.

Responding to Congress allegations that the opposition is instigating people to protest against the government, he said, "JDS is not in a hurry to attack the Congress government. We will give them reasonable time to deliver on their promises. If they don't, we will hit the streets."

JDS will be holding a series of meetings over the next four days to dissect the poor performance in the Assembly elections, discuss plans to strengthen the party and prepare for the upcoming elections, he said.

'Only 37k houses got nod, will seek PMAY extension'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOUSING Minister BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan held a review meeting on Tuesday over seeking extension for PM Awas Yojana as of the total 1.41 lakh houses, only 37,000 have been given permission. The last date for this scheme is June-end.

"We must write to the central government, seeking an extension as the process was delayed due to the Assembly elections and other factors. We will also meet the Union minister, if needed," said Khan.

Delay in the housing scheme would deprive the poor of shelter, he said, and instructed officials to set a timeline to finish the projects. "I am unhappy as many projects are incomplete under the Basava Housing Scheme, Ambedkar Awas Yojan, and Devaraj Urs Urban and Rural Housing scheme. Officials must submit details of these projects," he said.

Housing schemes must be implemented after resolving local problems, otherwise "30 per cent progress even after investing several crores of rupees is unacceptable," he said.

Officials informed the minister that one of the reasons for the delay is payments. Khan directed them to hold an emergency meeting with bank officials for speedy disbursal of loans to beneficiaries.

Regarding the Chief Minister's one lakh housing scheme, Khan said that the scheme, started in 2017, is yet to be completed. "Of 1,040 acres of land required, only 553 has been acquired. Of the total 50,797 applicants, only 12,158 have paid the first instalment, resulting in only 5,000 houses being completed. In such a scenario, it is difficult for people to trust the government," he said.

"Prepare a note on the funds required to complete the schemes under the Rajiv Gandhi Housing Corporation within one year. I will discuss it with the chief minister before the state budget," he added. The officials said the schemes would be completed if Rs 1,000 crore is injected. Zameer suggested that the officials raise loans from the banks with government guarantee.

Title deeds

Regarding the distribution of title deeds in Chikkaballapur under Chief Minister's Housing scheme, Khan said that the previous MLA of Chikkaballapur had allegedly distributed 10,500 title deeds with his photo on them during the Assembly elections, which is illegal. "The title deeds which have the pictures of the chief minister and the housing minister are valid. The officials must submit a report and take necessary action," he said.

Kin of Ch'nagar oxygen tragedy victims want govt to give them jobs

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

TWO years after the oxygen tragedy that killed 36 people in Chamarajanagar hospital during the peak of Covid, the return of Congress government in the state has raised hopes of families of victims on getting government jobs as promised by Congress leaders then.

The victims, who are in penury, want Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar to fulfil their promise.

Siddaramaiah, who was then opposition leader, and KPCC president Shivakumar had visited the hospital, given the families of victims Rs 1 lakh each and pulled up officers for the tragedy that drew national attention.

Though 36 people died, the government paid compensation only to 24 families. The other 12 are going from one government office to another seeking compensation, disputing the claims of officers that their family members did not die of Covid.

"If he was not Covid-positive, why did they admit him and put him on a ventilator," asked Jyothi of Bislavadi. She said she has no income and her family is living with her aged parents. "I could not get a job with my SSLC certificate. I have no money to admit our son to a pre-university college."

Siddarajamma, the mother of two who lost her husband, is pleading for a temporary job. "Why did they (the previous government) deny us justice when my husband died gasping for oxygen at midnight," she asked.

She recalled that Congress senior leader Rahul Gandhi, who interacted with the families of victims, had assured them of jobs if Congress came back to power. Shivakumar too had given the same promise.

"Then MLA N Mahesh told me that he would get me a job, but no progress was made. How can I feed my two daughters when I have no income," she asked. These families now hope that the Congress government, which is implementing five pre-poll guarantees, would extend them a helping hand. They want Rs 5 lakh compensation to all the 36 families and a government job for each family.

They blamed the previous government for not punishing the government officials responsible for the tragedy. The then deputy commissioner, DHO and doctors too were spared, they said.

Farmer leader Mallesh had appeared before the single-bench commission of BA Patil and blamed civil servants and their adamant attitude for the tragedy. SDPI state president Abdul Majeed met the families of victims and asked the government to give a compensation of Rs 50 lakh to each family, government jobs and action against guilty officials. They welcomed Siddaramaiah's decision to order another inquiry into the tragedy.

Siddu govt orders investigation into 205 judicial appointments

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Siddaramaiah government on Tuesday ordered a probe into the appointment of 205 assistant government prosecutors and assistant government pleaders that was on the verge of completion and the appointment orders were to be issued shortly.

Sources said the exams were held in July last year over two days and a viva-voce was conducted for the selected aspirants, where officers from the judiciary and prosecution participated.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday said the government has received complaints about irregularities and corruption as regards these exams and ordered Chief Secretary Vandita Sharma to have the matter investigated by the departmental officials concerned and those responsible should be booked without any fear or favour.

The exams were held for these positions after a judicial intervention.

The High Court division bench consisting of the then Chief Justice RR Awasti and Justice AS Kinagi had said that these exams need to be conducted within six weeks, considering there were delays in cases because vacant positions of pleaders and prosecutors were not filled since 2019.

Pleaders and prosecutors are the essential part of the legal system helping the courts dispense justice from the lower courts to the high courts. There were constant complaints that vacancies in these positions had resulted in delays by courts.

Siddu's comment on free power adds to confusion

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS confusion prevails over who precisely would be eligible for the free electricity guarantee scheme, promised by the Congress government, Chief Minister Siddaramiah on Tuesday clarified that those who consume power within 200 units are not required to pay the bill.

As officials and the CM himself had explained that an average of 12-month consumption would be taken and 10% above that would be considered free, his Tuesday 'clarification' only confused matters further. He, however, said the 'Shakti' guarantee will not be applicable to commercial properties.

He also said up to 200 units free is also applicable for tenants. "We will provide free power (up to 200 units) to those living in rented houses. People who consume less than 200 units of power need not have to pay the bills," he added. Energy Minister KJ George has called a press meet on Wednesday which is likely to give clarification.

'Will urge Centre to include quota hike in 9th Schedule'

CM Siddaramaiah said the state government will urge the Centre to include the reservation hike for SC/STs under the 9th Schedule. Equal opportunities have to be given to those who are deprived of opportunities."

BJP PROMISES WERE DUD, SAYS CM

Bengaluru: Hitting out at BJP for protesting against the government over implementing the guarantees, CM Siddaramaiah said on Tuesday that the saffron party does not have the moral rights to agitate. Speaking after taking part in an event to mark the death anniversary of ex-CM Devaraj Urs, he said the BJP had promised to waive off loans and provide 10 hours of electricity. None was done after they assumed power, he said. Calling BJP an "anti-people party", he said, "When the BJP was in power, they looted the state. Our government has made sincere efforts to implement all the five guarantees within 15 days of coming to power," he said. He recalled that during his last stint as the CM, his government had fulfilled 158 of 165 promises. ENS

SR Bommai birth centenary: Bommai Jr fondly remembers dad

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai shared fond memories of his late father and former chief minister SR Bommai at the inauguration of the latter's birth centenary celebrations and release of the coffee table book 'The Radical Humanist' published by The New Indian Express, here on Tuesday.

An emotional Bommai remembered how his father used to take him to school holding his hands. "Though he was a man of big stature outside, he was simple at home. He taught us basic lessons on the importance of equality while feeding us," Bommai remembered.

The former chief minister said there was one similarity between his father and former CMs BS Yediyurappa and SM Krishna, who were present at the event. "The three achieved it big in politics without having any godfathers. They made it possible only through their struggles and hard work," he said.

Opining that the same yardstick does not hold good to measure the achievements of leaders belonging to different periods, Bommai said some decisions taken by his father were relevant even today. "He would have continued in power if he had compromised with his principles, but he never did. He was a man who turned down the offer to become chief minister the second time, saying he has already seen it and made way for others," Bommai said.

Basavaraj Bommai said he regarded Yediyurappa as his fatherly figure and 'guru' in his political career. It was Yediyurappa who identified his strengths, nourished him and took him to greater heights, he added.

Srimathi Gangamma Somappa Bommai Educational & Welfare Foundation has planned to hold four big events in Bommai's birthplace, Hubballi, Bengaluru and Delhi as part of the birth centenary celebrations.

He was speaking after releasing 'The Radical Humanist', a coffee table book on former CM SR Bommai's life, published by TNIE. "The recent election is an example of how money is playing a dangerous role in democracy. There should be serious introspection about where democracy is heading, and we should fight to stop it," Krishna said, expressing displeasure over the way the Election Commission functions.

MORE PASSION, INVESTMENT NEEDED FOR A GREEN FUTURE

World Environment Day, June 5, slipped in and out without too much fanfare. It's when governments and citizens are reminded of the planet's impending crisis from the deliberate degradation of our natural resources. Prime Minister Narendra Modi rightly pointed out on the occasion that developing and underdeveloped countries were paying the price for the 'wrong policies' of the developed world and that environmental justice demanded the skew be bridged. The unsaid, underlying message is: the developed world had ravaged the planet with polluting gases and the destruction of forests through the Industrial Revolution of the 18th and 19th centuries. They have profited, but now the developed world is lecturing the poor nations on environmental goals. Environmental justice demands the polluter must pay, and cleaning the world thus falls more on the advanced, post-colonial countries.

This year marks the 50th year of the United Nations' celebration of Environment Day. The milestone should have merited more focus on the burning issues of the day. This year, the projected theme is 'Solutions to Plastic Pollution', focusing on banishing single-use plastics and recycling plastic waste. It is a significant theme considering our beaches and rivers are choking with discarded plastic containers. Things have reached such a head that plastic has become a dangerous poison in our food chain. The animals slaughtered for meat and the fish harvested from the sea are ingesting these dangerous pollutants, and passing them on to the human food chain.

Despite all the lip service to protect the environment, the deep suspicion is most governments and private individuals treat the issue as an intellectual luxury. The climate crisis, for instance, sparked by the unending spewing of greenhouse gases and deforestation, has been triggering heat waves and bush fires. The way out is to decrease the use of fossil fuels, but try as we do, coal – a primary fossil fuel – still accounts for 70% of India's power generation. Loss of biodiversity is another huge challenge ahead. We are using more of the Earth's resources that can be replenished naturally. A World Wildlife Fund (WWF) report recently found that the population sizes of mammals, fish, birds, reptiles and amphibians have declined 68% between 1970 and 2016. It is high time environment is not made part of the political agendas of nations. Otherwise, it may be too late.

GUARANTEES MUST AIM AT CREATING JOBS

Congress' five guarantees during the campaign for the May 10 assembly polls in Karnataka have played a large part in the party coming to power in the state. The guarantees have been a hit as instruments of victory. Congress in other poll-bound states now plans to adopt the same strategy, hoping to come to power there.

The guarantees together can potentially cover a majority of the 2.14 crore households in Karnataka. 'Uchit Prayana' (or "Shakti") allows free travel for all women in state-owned non-AC buses; 'Griha Jyothi' allows up to 200 units of electricity free for every household; 'Griha Laxmi' grants ₹2,000 per month for every woman head of households; 'Anna Bhagya' provides 10 kg of food grain per person per household belonging to the Below Poverty Line (BPL) category; and 'Yuva Nidhi' grants ₹3,000 per month for unemployed graduates and ₹1,500 per month for unemployed diploma holders for up to two years or until getting employed, whichever comes first. Of the five, three guarantees are 'doles'.

However, the state government needs to complement the guarantees with the financial sustenance of the beneficiaries by creating employment opportunities, including self-employment. For instance, the women beneficiaries of the 'Griha Laxmi' scheme, especially in rural areas, can be encouraged to start small businesses or self-help groups that can be further proliferated. Various technologies are emerging at scientific centres like the Indian Institute of Science's Centre for Sustainable Technologies. One example is the vegetable/fruit dryer developed by it. Women can be trained to operate the dryers, which render the produce dry. The powdered-and-packed produce can have a shelf life of up to a year without affecting its nutrients. The double benefits: Over-the-counter sale of the packed, dried produce generates steady incomes for women, and the dried-packed-and-stored stock remains insulated from price fluctuations in times of glut.

Corporates and academia can be roped in to train unemployed youth, and the talented ones can be absorbed or encouraged to start businesses independently. The guarantees should be ideally used to aim at long-term financial sustainability, not just vote winnability.

QUICK TAKE

SAVE THE LEOPARD

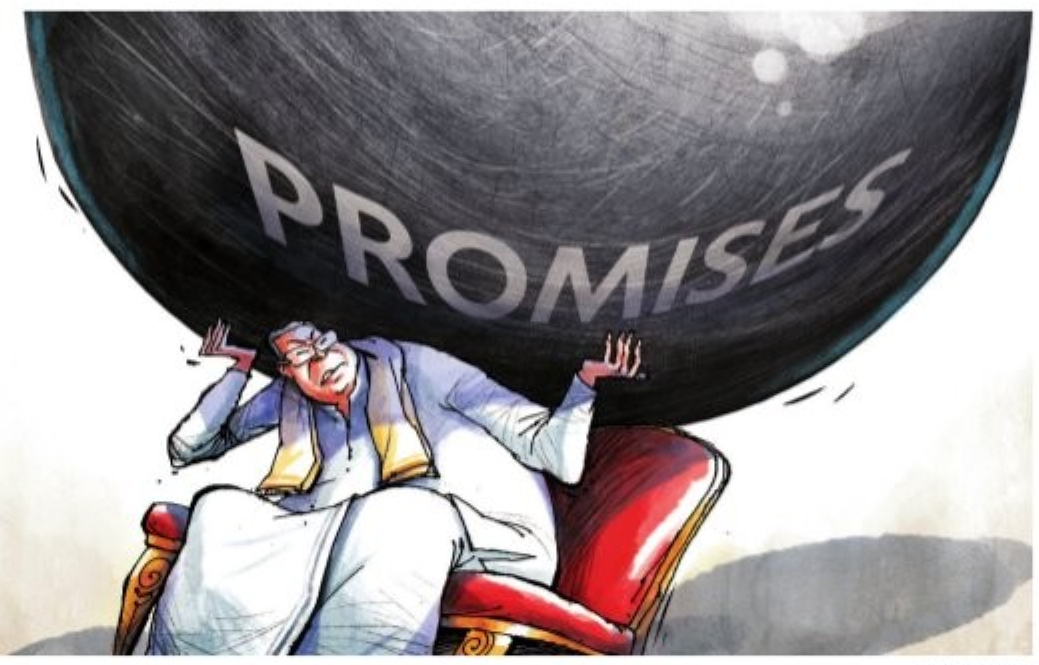
Gujarat may sterilise some of its 2000 leopards to curb their growing conflict with humans that left five people dead in recent months. Sterilisation is unwise. It violates the spirit of wildlife protection laws and will eventually contribute to the death of the specie. As it is, shrinking forest cover and poaching are taking their toll. Leopards venturing into urban areas are either caught or clubbed to death. In 2021, 182 animals were poached for their expensive pelts. The government must look for alternatives. For instance, it should release leopards' natural prey inside forests so they don't venture out to the fringe.

The post facto conditionalities of the government are a giveaway of the tight fiscal situation the guarantees created

HOW A FORGOTTEN GUARANTEE CAN SAVE SIDDARAMAIAH

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior journalist and author



SOUMYADIP SINHA

The Congress government in Karnataka is settling down as quickly as it can. It has made decent progress with the five big welfare guarantees it made during the assembly elections. The inclusive and representational victory that the party achieved had brought pressure on it to roll out the guarantees, not in phases, not in parts, but in their entirety. What that entirety is, became a matter of interpretation after the polls.

Instead of emotionally rushing to fulfil the welfare promises, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah paused like a seasoned administrator, took a hard look at the coffers, and cautiously moved ahead by introducing certain conditionalities. Given his past experience in handling the finance portfolio, one can be sure that he fully understands what he has committed his government to do. After having become chief minister for a second time and having declared that what just got over was his last election, there is no basis to suspect that he functions with an after-me-the-deluge attitude regarding the state's finances. He may be looking for a legacy.

The total cost to the exchequer from the five welfare schemes is rather hazy. It is variously pegged between ₹50,000 crores and ₹1 lakh crores per annum. To offer some perspective, the total size of the Karnataka budget is around ₹3 lakh crores. Even as speculation has run wild, the government has not clarified the total figure because it does not have a final figure. It will be known only after payments hit the accounts of beneficiaries and after all concessions and losses are fully accounted for.

The post facto conditionalities introduced by the government are a giveaway of the tight fiscal situation that the guarantees may have created. For instance, the government has restricted the unemployment dole to only those who remained unemployed in the academic year 2022-23. Also, when a dole is meant to sustain someone, it is difficult to explain why the Congress stratified the unemployed by saying degree holders will get ₹3,000 a month, while diploma holders will get half of it. It is not that diploma holders are eligible for a special discount with grocers or vegetable vendors.

Next, on the 200 units' free electricity guarantee, they have introduced a complicated calculation of averages, which is bound to create hyperlocal disputes and tensions. Meanwhile, the government has nowhere said it will keep the electricity price static. Given the poor financial condition of the electricity boards, it may be compelled to go for a hike sooner than later to tide over the old and new losses.

There is an implication for employee morale too. In fact, in the previous Bommai government, the finance department, in December 2022, had shot down a proposal to increase the wages of employees in the power transmission corporation. It had argued that a wage hike may eventually lead to a hike in power prices and burden consumers.

The case of the bus guarantees is no less complicated. It affects the revenues of the five bus corporations that are already under strain. According to one estimate presented to the chief minister, to satisfy the demand for free travel, the corporations will have to purchase 4028 new buses. To manage these new buses, they may need around 13,000 new employees. If one adds the fluctuating diesel prices, a very gloomy picture emerges.

As regards the free rice guarantee of 10 kgs, if 5 kgs are assured from the central pool, the state will have to purchase the rest at a minimum support price. The calculation is it will roughly need ₹850 crore every month. That is nearly ₹10,000 crore per annum. The inflation dole of ₹2,000 for women is yet another humungous challenge, both fiscally and socially, in a patriarchal set-up. Here again, if it is an Aadhaar-linked cash transfer scheme, a recent document presented before the government said there were nearly 37,000 bogus Aadhaar cards that had led to duplication of benefits.

If the five guarantees should not tie down the government to constantly measure its equilibrium and watch its back; if it should not lead them to irrational taxation and price hikes in other sectors, thereby making the guarantees a zero-sum game, then there is a splendid solution to ease the financial stress of the Congress government.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has only to jog his memory and recall an announcement, a kind of guarantee he made in 2013 when he came to power. He had undertaken a padayatra to Bellary and had assured that if he came to power, he would mercilessly recover losses the mining companies had caused to the state exchequer.

Siddaramaiah had promised to take the very credible Lokayukta report on illegal mining forward. The Justice Santosh Hegde-led organisation had estimated that nearly three crore tonnes of illegal ore had been transported out of the state, and the loss accrued to ₹12,228 crore.

Initially, to keep this promise, Siddaramaiah had set up a cabinet sub-committee under senior minister HK Patil. The committee which went into the mining scam felt that the Lokayukta report had underestimated the losses. It said if the railway department's figures were also collated, the loss was around 35 crore tonnes. Now, if a per tonne rate of ₹4103 (Lokayukta figure) is applied to 35 crore tonnes, then the estimated loss to the Karnataka government would jump dramatically to over ₹1.43 lakh crore. This has to be mercilessly collected.

After the initial enthusiasm and rhetoric in 2013, the Siddaramaiah government forgot the findings of its own cabinet subcommittee. They never spoke about it in the years they remained in power till 2018. Since Siddaramaiah is now back, he has to simply recall his 2013 guarantee to fulfil his 2023 guarantees. This will test his political will and moral ability to keep his word.

The man at the centre of the mining scam a decade ago, G Janardhana Reddy, has entered the state assembly this time and may serve as a constant reminder to recover the mining money. If Siddaramaiah had acted in 2013, Reddy perhaps wouldn't be in the Assembly. HK Patil, too, is back in the cabinet, and he can place his calculation again on the table.

PLASTIC WASTE: A CHALLENGE WITH MULTIPLE OPPORTUNITIES

CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE

Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry

World Environment Day this year focuses on global solutions to beat plastic pollution and transition to a circular plastics economy. Plastics are unique materials, and their use in various critical applications is essential. However, managing plastic waste has become a massive challenge due to its wide-ranging uses and low awareness of management options. OECD data suggests that only around 9% of plastic is recycled globally, and almost half is landfilled. This presents a huge opportunity to work on better systems for collecting and managing plastic waste.

Plastics were much in focus in 2022. Heads of State, Ministers of Environment and other representatives from UN Member States endorsed a historic resolution at the UN Environment Assembly (UNEA-5) in Nairobi to End Plastic Pollution and forge an international legally binding agreement by 2024. The resolution addressed the full lifecycle of plastic, including its production, design, and disposal. Since 2022, the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee has met twice, in Uruguay and, most recently, Paris. It is heartening to note that India has participated actively in these sessions.

In India, the action on plastic waste started with the government banning single-use plastics in 2019 and the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change naming the 18 plastic articles included.

The on-ground Swachch Bharat Mission (SBM) was launched in October 2014 to manage 100% of solid waste scientifically. It is being implemented with resolve, and progress is monitored, measured and results placed in the public domain. SBM 2.0, launched in 2021, also emphasises the need for plastic management – working towards minimising single-use plastic and operationalising recycling and reuse through processing. This complements the essence of the Lifestyle for Environment (LiFE) Mission, announced at COP 26 in Glasgow by the Prime Minister. LiFE Mission stresses individual action intended to ripple out to the national level. It is a public movement to mobilise individuals to become Pro-Planet People.

The key challenges in India concerning plastic waste management are littering, segregation at source and lack of infrastructure for subsequent management. In India, with a vast geographic spread and large diversity in cultures, traditions, and socio-economic factors, driving behavioural change is challenging. Particularly in the case of plastic waste, it is tough to motivate changes in habits and inculcate segregation at source. But the above also presents an opportunity to create livelihood and a waste management sector.

Policy drivers in the form of the Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) Guidelines for plastic packaging, in the Plastic Waste Management (PWM) Rules, for example, have lent impetus to on-ground action and are, slowly but surely, shifting action towards circular plastic packaging. This will drive much-needed investment towards high-quality recycling. The government is rolling out EPR for many materials other than plastics, including tyres, batteries, and waste oil.

In India, with a vast geographic spread and large diversity in cultures, traditions, and socio-economic factors, driving behavioural change is challenging

Such policy enablement can be supported and strengthened by voluntary business initiatives such as the India Plastics Pact, launched in 2021 and hosted by CII. With about fifty signatories on board, it offers a common platform for action by stakeholders across the plastics packaging value chain. Moving beyond the Government of India's list, Pact signatories will remove 390 million unnecessary and problematic items from their packaging.

CII is clear about the scale of the opportunity made available to businesses and optimistic that the regulation will spur growth in the recycling capacity of different polymer resins. Equally, it will attract investments in infrastructure, including equipment, material recovery facilities, transport, and the upgradation of technologies for sorting, processing, and recycling waste. The latter is crucial as it will permit closed-loop recycling, thus maintaining material value at the highest level in a circular economy.

We are aware that change brings opportunity and challenge. For India's medium, small and micro enterprises, a shift to sustainable practices also spells a large shift in the requirement of capital, workforce, technology, skills, and capacity. CII works with this sector to minimise the gaps and provide support through design guidance, for example, so that best practices are available and adopted and enterprise owners can access information.

Flexible packaging is trendy in countries similar to India in socio-economic terms. Such countries also share similarities in terms of the large-scale involvement of the informal sector in collecting and processing plastic waste material flows. This packaging presents a challenge in collection, storage, and recycling. Despite its versatility, it warrants special attention. However, it also allows popular food and non-food products to be sold at price points that are affordable and accessible to citizens in the country.

In 2018, India consumed 5.4 million metric tons (MMT) of plastics; 59% of this went into packaging (by weight), out of which 71% went into flexible packaging (by weight). However, this situation also presents a great opportunity for India to become a solution provider and develop flexible packaging whose collection is incentivised and designed for recyclability.

Overall, Indian businesses are much better informed and more inclined to act on environmental and sustainability issues than ever before. Reporting requirements such as those of the BRSR are compelling a move toward transparency and accountability. Many have R&D working to develop better, more circular plastic packaging. The government has established a strong policy: its consistent implementation will create confidence for brands, recyclers, and manufacturers to invest in better equipment and technology.

'Jugaad' culture

Apropos Odisha train tragedy and our need for speed (June 6). Appreciated your article, which touched upon the aspirations of the emerging middle-class Indians. You have rightly analysed the probable root cause, and possibility of human error not being ruled out. But in our national culture, there is this great love for "jugaad" if systems don't operate as they are supposed to.

Kavach role

About speculations over possible causes of the Odisha train tragedy: Many have been harping about the Kavach, which the Indian Railways claims to have developed successfully, not knowing that it comes into play only when two speeding trains approach each other on the same track. What happened at Balasore is different.

Resignation demand

The opposition parties are gunning for Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw's resignation over the Odisha tragedy. They are politicising the issue. There were 51 collisions when Lalu Prasad was railway minister, 79 during Mamata Banerjee's tenure and 54 in Nitish Kumar's time but they never resigned.

Infra importance

Apropos of the editorial Quality Of Infrastructure Projects Matters, Not Quantity (June 6). There is no doubt infrastructure plays a large role in determining long-term economic and social trajectories. Nudity verdict

Apropos of Nudity should not be tied to sex: HC (June 6). The Kerala High Court, while discharging activist Rehana Fatima in a case registered for posting a video in which her two minor children were seen painting on her semi-nude body, observed that nudity should not be tied to sex. The HC seems far removed from the goings-on within today's society, where even a properly clad woman isn't spared by eve-teasers, oglers and harassers.

India a vibrant democracy, says US

The comment comes ahead of PM Modi's state visit to America on an invitation from Biden

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

THE White House on Monday stated that India is a vibrant democracy, dismissing concerns about its democratic health. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is scheduled to visit the US beginning June 21.

"India is a vibrant democracy. Anybody that you know happens to go to New Delhi can see that for themselves. And certainly, I would expect that strength and health of democratic institutions will be part of the discussion," John Kirby, Coordinator for Strategic Communications at the National Security Council in the White House, said.

This comment dismissed concerns raised by Rahul Gandhi on India's democracy in this recent trip to the US.

"Look, we never shy away. And you can do that with friends. You're supposed to do that with friends. You never shy away from expressing concerns that we might have with anyone around the world. But this (State) visit is really about advancing what is now and what we hope will be a deeper, stronger partnership and friendship going forward," Kirby said, adding that India is a strong partner with the United States on many levels.

"You saw that in Shangri-La Secretary (of Defence, Lloyd) Austin announced some additional defense cooperation now that we're going to pursue with India. Of course, there's an awful lot of economic trade between our two countries. India is a member of the Pacific Quad and a key friend and partner with respect to Indo-Pacific security," Kirby added.

"I could go on and on and on. There are innumerable reasons why India certainly matters, not just bilaterally between the two of our nations, but multilaterally on very many levels. And the President is looking forward very much to having Prime Minister Modi here to talk about all those issues and to advance and deepen that partnership and that friendship," Kirby added. Meanwhile, Kirby also highlighted India's membership in the Pacific Quad and its crucial role as a friend and partner in ensuring security in the Indo-Pacific region.

Both US and India are partners in Quad, I2U2 and are giving joint infrastructure a push. Besides, both countries don't want China to call the shots. India matters to the US as the US see its as an ally in the Indo-Pacific which can counter the influence exercised by China.

"Prime Minister Narendra Modi will embark on an official state visit to the United States of America, which will include a state dinner on June 22, 2023, following an invitation from President Joseph Biden and First Lady Jill Biden," the external affairs ministry had said in a statement.

India and Germany review defence industrial partnership

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

DEFENCE minister Rajnath Singh held a bilateral meeting with German counterpart Boris Pistorius in New Delhi on Tuesday and reviewed cooperation activities in the defence production sector.

"Both ministers reviewed the ongoing bilateral defence cooperation activities and explored ways to enhance the collaboration, particularly defence industrial partnership," the Ministry of Defence in a statement said.

Rajnath Singh highlighted the opportunities that have opened up in the defence production sector, including the possibilities for German investments in the two defence industrial corridors in Uttar Pradesh and Tamil Nadu.

The Indian defence industry could participate in the supply chain of the German defence industry and add value to the ecosystem besides contributing to supply chain resilience, the defence ministry added.

File photo

The German industry, which is in the race for contract of six conventional submarines, is at a good place, said Pistorius who reached India on June 5 on a four-day visit.

When asked about the status of the ongoing selection process for the submarine manufacturing in India, the Federal Minister of Defence told accompanying German journalists that the talks about a deal of TKMS (Thyssenkrupp Marine Systems), about six submarines (Project 75I) are on, but the procedure is not finished yet. "I think the German industry is at a good place in that race," he said.

The Indian Navy is suffering from depleted underwater combat capability. It has 16 conventional submarines of which 11 are of over two decades old. The request for proposal for ₹50,000-crore deal was issued over two years back.

In January 2020, Rajnath Singh-chaired Defence Acquisition Council had shortlisted Mazgaon Docks Ltd (MDL) and Larsen & Toubro (L&T) as the Indian partners for the Project-75I deal.

Of the five foreign original equipment manufacturers (OEM), France pulled out of the race citing that it did not meet the criteria laid down in the RFPs.

According to sources, only Germany and Daewoo Shipbuilding & Marine Engineering (South Korea) meet the criteria to be in the race.

Southern states up ante on population-based delimitation of LS seats

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AMID a fresh round of debates over the contentious delimitation exercise, southern states have raised the pitch that they will unitedly oppose any move on delimitation of Lok Sabha seats on the basis of population. The number of Lok Sabha seats was fixed at 543 seats in 1976 based on the 1971 census. After that delimitation exercise has not been done as the 42nd amendment to the Constitution mandated a freeze in delimitation exercise for 25 years until 2001 which was extended by another 25 years till 2026.

As per Constitution, allocation of Lok Sabha seats to every state is based on the 1971 Census data and it shouldn't be disturbed, former Kerala finance minister Thomas Isaac and a senior CPI (M) leader told this newspaper.

"The solemn promise made by the nation in the Parliament when the population policy adopted is that the 1971 Census will continue to be the base year of funds for resource location as well as Parliamentary representation. The states that successfully implemented the population policy should not be penalised because of their performance," he said. Many experts and political leaders from Southern states also cite a 2019 research paper which projects 21 seats more for Bihar and Uttar Pradesh if the delimitation is carried out in 2026 based on population. The report says that Tamil Nadu and Kerala taken together will lose 16 seats in the exercise.

The new Parliament building can accommodate 888 members in the Lok Sabha and 384 in the Rajya Sabha Former chief statistician and economist Pronab Sen said the opposition from Southern states is one of the main reasons for the delay in the delimitation exercise.

"If there is a new delimitation, the states which have shown slower population growth will lose and states with more population growth will gain. Southern states did the demographic transition in the 70s," said Sen. Telangana MP K Keshava Rao said for delimitation geographical area also needs to be taken into consideration. "Constitution says that delimitation should be done based on the 1971 census. Southern states have done well in population policy and we shouldn't be punished for that. According to a study, UP will be getting 26 seats more and Southern states will lose out. All the southern states will stick together and fight against it," said Rao.

Mamata keeps up her mango diplomacy

PRONAB MONDAL @Kolkata

POLITICAL sparring matches notwithstanding, there is a certain civility some top rung netas continue to observe. Take West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee. If she does not miss any opportunity to go for Prime Minister Narendra Modi's jugular, she also does not forget sending him an annual gift hamper of the choicest of mangoes.

A decorated 4 kg box, with the tagline, "Best wishes from West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee", comprising handpicked pieces of the king of fruits will be sent to the 7, Lok Kalyan Marg residence of Modi in a day or two. Sources said the box will contain popular varieties like Himsagar, Fazli and Lakshmanbhog.

Similar gifts from Mamata will also reach the doorstep of President Draupadi Murmu and Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud as well.

Though the Didi, as she is popularly known, has been sending gift hampers to Modi every year, its timing this year is curious. For, less than 24 hours before the mango diplomacy, she had launched a withering attack on the Centre for tasking the CBI with the probe into the recent Odisha rail accident that killed 288 passengers, alleging "this is not the time to suppress truth."

Mamata alleged that the accident took place because of railway negligence, adding had the anti-collision device — introduced during her stint as Union railway minister — been in place, the tragedy could have been averted.

China's sharp retort to 'bully' comment by US def secy on India visit

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

REACTING to US defence secretary Austin Lloyd's comment that China is a bully, China said it is a contributor to world peace and prosperity.

"It is the US, not China, who resorts to all types of measures for coercion and hegemony. Victims of US coercion and bullying include its allies and partners, with developing countries bearing the brunt of it," said China's spokesperson to India, Wang Xiaojing.

The current China-India border situation is overall stable and the boundary question is a matter between China and India, and brooks no interference of any third party, Wang added.

Wangs response was based on Lloyd comment on Monday wherein he said the world is witnessing bullying and coercion from China which was seeking to "redraw borders by force" and also threaten the national sovereignty of countries.

Lloyd said this after holding a bilateral meeting with Defence Minister Rajnath Singh.

"We face a rapidly changing world. We see bullying and coercion from China, Russian aggression against Ukraine that seeks to redraw borders by force and threatens national sovereignty, as well as transnational challenges, such as terrorism and climate change," Lloyd said.

"So democracies must now rally together around not just our common interest, but also our shared values. Preserving and protecting the freedoms that are essential to peace and prosperity will require vigorous leadership from the United States and India. And so we still have a lot of work to do, but I am confident that the US-India Partnership will help to secure an open and prosperous future for the Indo-Pacific and the wider world," he said.

'Paucity of faculty with PhDs in higher education'

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

INDIA's top 100 institutions have the most doctoral faculty, with top management schools having the maximum number of PhD teachers, according to the data from the just-released National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF). But even among these best institutes, the proportion of high-qualified faculty is skewed.

While the management institutes in India have the highest number of faculty with doctoral degrees at 91.60 per cent, their proportion is only 61 per cent in other colleges. As per NIRF, which ranks higher education institutions in India, it was observed that faculty with doctoral qualifications is concentrated in the top 100 institutions; the remaining institutions have fewer faculty with postgraduate degrees. "This is a serious handicap since mentorship received during the doctoral training can play a vital role in preparing the faculty for a teaching career in higher education," said the NIRF document.

University Grants Commission (UGC) Chairman Prof M. Jagadesh Kumar said that "institutions in the top 100 bracket in NIRF are strong in promoting research. That is why almost all the faculty members are doctorates in these institutions." He said, on the other hand, that only those colleges with master's programmes and research culture will have doctorates as faculty members.

"It is, therefore, not surprising that only 61 per cent of colleges have faculty that have doctoral degrees, and the top 100 institutions have the highest number of faculty with doctoral degrees," he told this paper. Also, in some areas, such as commerce, law, architecture, and foreign languages, fewer people pursue a PhD. There will be fewer faculty members with a PhD in colleges offering these programmes, he explained. One of the parameters on which 100 institutes were ranked best by NIRF is teaching, learning and resources. The other parameters are research and professional practice, graduation outcome, outreach, and inclusivity and perception.

As per data, of the top 100 institutes that were rated best for 'engineering,' 81.20 per cent had faculty with PhDs, as compared to just 34.94 of the remaining engineering institutes that had registered themselves for the prestigious ranking.

In the same way, in the 'overall' category, the 100 institutions that were judged the best, nearly 78 per cent had faculty with doctoral degrees compared to only 51.36 per cent in the remaining institutions.

Among the 100 best 'universities,' 73.60 per cent had faculty with PhDs, compared to 64.29 per cent in the rest which registered. The 100 top management institutes had the maximum number of PhDs at 91.60 per cent. This was in stark contrast to other management institutes, which had only 57.37 per cent of faculty with doctoral degrees. The pharmacy was one category that saw less number of PhD holders. While in the 100 best pharmacy institutes, the figure stood at 70.82 per cent, compared to a mere 33.27 per cent in the remaining institutes.

Similarly, in the NIRF-ranked 100 colleges, the faculty with Ph.D degrees stood at 61.06 per cent, compared to 44.63 per cent in the remaining institutes. Moreover, the average number of faculty in the top 100 institutions varies from a minimum of 34 and 46 in the case of 'pharmacy' and 'management' to a maximum of 685 and 645 in the case of 'universities' and 'overall' categories, respectively.

School where PM Modi studied restored for education tours for kids

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

IN an effort to inspire students to learn about Indian cultural history, the Ministry of Culture is set to convert the school that Prime Minister Narendra Modi pursued his primary education in into a centre of learning. Situated in Gujarat's Vadnagar, the ministry will launch a week-long residential programme for school children at the Prerna (inspiration): The Vernacular School.

The 140 years old school has eight rooms and has been restored by the Archeological Survey of India (ASI) since 2018.

The initiative is part of the joint initiative of the ministry and the government of Gujarat for mega redevelopment of historic town Vadnagar.

"Based on the vision of the Prime Minister, this first-of-its-kind school redevelopment project 'Prerna' is being undertaken to inspire the youth of the county to become catalysts of change. They will be told about valour and compassion through the stories of Param Veer Chakra awardees and the life of Buddha, Mahavir and Mahatma Gandhi," said senior government officials, privy to the matter.

The ministry is in the process of developing a mechanism to pick two students from across all 740 districts. The target is to train 1,500 students in batches in a year. Each batch will have 30 students.

"Through the students taught at this school, a message of inspiration will be conveyed to all districts. We want the first batch to finish the programme this year. Speeches of prominent leaders will be made available to them. The children will be taught in digital and physical formats," said an official.

The officials further informed that under a four-part redevelopment and beautification plan of the city, a cultural centre will be developed.

"The city has beautiful temples, water bodies, and pathways. Places associated with folklores will be restored or redeveloped and water bodies will be interconnected. We are also creating a green belt which connects all the temples. Similarly, Buddhist and archeological expedition trails are being developed.

The Experiential Museum at Vadnagar excavation site is on the verge of completion. Around 40-50,000 antiquities recovered during different rounds of digging since 1954 will be displayed there to showcase continuous habitation of the ancient town," added the officials. The museum will be ready by October this year.

Raj Cong crisis could be peaking a few months ahead of Assembly polls, but in UP, party is in action mode for next year's LS polls

Buzz over Pilot floating new outfit creates flutter

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

A close associate of Congress leader Sachin Pilot and a minister in the Gehlot government, Murari Lal Meena has dismissed the possibility of Pilot forming a new party as a "baseless rumour".

Ever since the meeting involving Sachin Pilot, Ashok Gehlot, Congress chief Mallikarjuna Kharge and Rahul Gandhi in Delhi a week ago, speculation is on in Rajasthan that Pilot could leave the Congress and form his own party on his father's death anniversary on June 11. His supporters have said the party leadership is not listening to him nor has Ashok Gehlot taken any action on his demands.

These rumours went on to the extent that Pilot had applied for the registration of the name 'Congress Progressive Party' with the Election Commission. Anxiety gripped the Congress over the possibility of Pilot announcing the new party. A pattern over the last three months has fueled the rumours. On April 11, Sachin Pilot staged a sit-in demanding action against corruption during the previous Vasundhara Raje government. On May 11, Pilot embarked on a foot march from Ajmer to Jaipur to protest against corruption, raising three major demands.

It was also speculated that political consultant Prashant Kishor and his firm I-PAC were assisting Pilot. I-PAC volunteers were believed to have helped Pilot plan a day-long hunger strike on April 11. The suggestion of a foot march between Ajmer and Jaipur was also reportedly provided by I-PAC advisors. Several reports in the past week also made similar claims.

However, Agriculture Marketing Minister Murari Lal Meena put an end to these "rumours", at least for the time being. Speaking to the media in Jaipur, Meena said: "I don't believe in any of this; in my opinion, it's all just rumours. We will fight the elections together."

"Significant matters are known either by the top leaders or the high command. I am not closely associated with the high command. I work for the party, and based on what I know, we will all work together."

If Meena's claim is indeed true, there is a possibility that instead of forming a new party, Pilot may once again intensify his movement against his own government.

Priyanka likely to give up UP affairs for poll-bound states

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER a spectacular victory in Karnataka, the Congress leadership is believed to be considering withdrawing AICC general secretary and in-charge of party affairs in Uttar Pradesh, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra from UP so that she could focus on poll-bound Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh.

UP Congress may get a new in-charge shortly to prepare the party for the Lok Sabha elections early next year. Top party sources said the UPCC is likely to get a new in-charge this month.

"As Priyanka Gandhi Vadra will be preoccupied with the party campaign in poll-bound states, she won't be able to devote adequate time to UP with the Lok Sabha elections inching closer. She is likely to withdraw from UP and a new in-charge will take her place shortly," said a senior Congress leader in Lucknow.

Party sources said the names of former Uttarakhand CM Harish Rawat and senior Congress leader Tariq Anwar are making the rounds for the post of UP in-charge.

Rawat can be helpful to persuade the Uttarakhand voters living in UP. Tariq Anwar can come in handy in turning the Muslim vote bank back to the party in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

"Some more names are also under consideration," said a senior Congress leader. The decision to appoint a new in-charge for the party unit has put a lid on speculation over the change in state leadership. The party sources claim that incumbent UPCC chief Brijlal Khabri is likely to continue till the 2024 general election.

Significantly, after the UP Assembly elections in 2022, when the party won only two seats, Rampur Khas and Phephna, Priyanka has not visited the state. However, she led the Congress poll campaign from the front but failed to convince the voters. Congress could get just 2.37% votes in 2022 Assembly elections against 6.25% it had received in the 2017 polls.

Priyanka had taken the political plunge in January, 2019 and was appointed in-charge of eastern UP. The then Congress leader Jyotiraditya Scindia was entrusted with the responsibility of western UP but after he switched over to the BJP, Priyanka took over the responsibility of the entire state.

Jadavpur univ gets 4th rank among colleges

Jadavpur University has ranked 4th among universities and St Xavier's College, Kolkata, 5th among colleges in India in an annual ranking exercise conducted by the Union education ministry. According to the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) list that was announced on Monday. Jadavpur University, which has been battling crippling resource constraints because of a lack of adequate funding from the state and Centre has retained its rank. St Xavier's College has improved its position by three notches. Suranjan Das, whose 9-year stint as JU vice-chancellor ended on May 31, said the univ can get better if it gets enough government support.

State civic body lacks good infrastructure

The Kolkata Municipal Corporation (KMC) does not have the infrastructure to visit shops and markets and confiscate single-use plastic items, which are among the banned plastic items, mayor Firhad Hakim said. Hakim put the onus of stopping the use of these items on police and the state pollution control board. They must reach the source of these products by raiding stores, Hakim said. The ban an all single-use plastic items in the state has been in force since July 1, 2022. The mayor made the comment in reply to a question on why a ban on certain plastic products was not being enforced in the KMC area as the city's markets were flooded with banned plastic products.

Akal Takht warns against conversion

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

ON the occasion of the 39th anniversary of Operation Blue star, Akal Takht (Highest Temporal Seat of Sikhs) Jathedar (High Priest) Giani Harpreet Singh today warned against the trend of Sikhs getting converted into Christianity, especially in rural areas of the state. He sought all Sikh outfits to join hands to work towards strengthening the religion in rural areas.

Addressing the gathering from the podium of Akal Takht in the Golden Temple complex, Harpreet Singh, Jathedar of Akal Takht, while indirectly hinting towards the trend of conversion of Sikhs to Christianity, said that the need of the hour was that Sikh preachers and scholars should visit villages to promote Sikhism to apprise the youth with rich Sikh tenets and history in order to unite them under the banner of the Akal Takht.

"The need of the hour was to maintain unity among the Sikh community. I appeal to all Sikh missionaries including Sant Samaj, Damdami Taksal and others to forget their internal differences and come on one platform and jointly preach Sikhism especially in remote rural areas where the Sikhs feel dejected,'' he said.

37 trekkers rescued in Uttarkashi

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

ALL the members of the 37-member team, that was stranded amid heavy snowfall following the death of a guide on the Kalindi track in Uttarkashi on Sunday, have returned to Bhojwasa on Tuesday. A 10-member team of the tracking agency brought back the body of the guide.

The team has been provided with hi-tech facilities for communication by gangotri national park and administration. It is being told that it will take about a week to bring the body of the guide.

Speaking to this newspaper, Gangotri National Park Deputy Director Ranganath Pandey said, "Information has confirmed that a guide died on the Kalindi track. At the same time, on Monday, a four-member team of the tracking agency left for rescue.

According to information received from the District Disaster Management Department, in the last week of May, a 37-member team left Gangotri for Kalindi track. As soon as this track team reached the base camp, the team was stuck there due to excessive snowfall.

"This trek originates from Gangotri mountain range to Badrinath and often due to snowfall, the geographical situation there gets worse. The tracking agency has also informed the district magistrate about the death of a guide who was part of the team", said Rangnath Pandey.

The district disaster management had said private helicopters cannot go up to 19,000 feet. The tracking agency has sought help from the district administration and the disaster management department to rescue the trekkers stranded by an Army helicopter.

Political blame game intensifies two days after Bihar bridge collapse

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE collapse of an under-construction bridge on the Ganga river in Bihar's Bhagalpur district two days ago has generated political heat in the state with Opposition demanding a probe by a central agency.

Bihar BJP on Tuesday demanded that the matter should be handed over to CBI as it involved huge public money. Leader of Opposition in Bihar assembly Navin Kumar Sinha said that CBI probe would unravel the truth behind collapse of the bridge.

"The bridge collapsed for the second time in the last one year. This shows the quality of material being used in the construction work. Even chief minister Nitish Kumar had expressed his displeasure over the poor quality of work," he said.

Earlier, state chief of the saffron party Samrat Choudhary demanded resignation of chief minister Nitish Kumar on moral grounds. "Corruption is prevalent and the collapse of an under-construction bridge is not an isolated case," he told the media.

On Tuesday, LJP (Ram Vilas) chief and Jamui MP Chirag Paswan alleged that public money was being plundered in Bihar and collapse of the bridge in Bhagalpur is one of the examples.

Ruling JD(U) turned down the demand of a CBI probe saying that state investigating agency is fair enough to conduct a thorough investigation. JD(U) MLC and chief spokesperson Neeraj Kumar said, "There is no need of probe handed over to any central investigating agency."

Taking a jibe at BJP, Neeraj said, "Why a CBI probe was not ordered into the collapse of a bridge in Gujarat's Morbi in which 135 people were killed." He also described the order of a CBI probe into Odisha train mishap as not 'fair.' Meanwhile, Bihar deputy chief minister Tejashwi Prasad Yadav said that the company that had been awarded contract of construction of the bridge between Aguwani Ghat and Sultanganj has been slapped show cause notice.

In addition, executive engineer concerned has been put under suspension by the road construction department.

Dalit groom pelted with stones in MP during wedding procession

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

A Dalit groom's procession escorted by cops was allegedly attacked by the powerful OBC Yadav caste men in Chhatarpur district of Madhya Pradesh on Monday, leaving at least four cops injured.

The attack happened as the Dalit groom's wedding procession, before going to the marriage venue in adjoining Sagar district, went for prayers at various temples in the groom's native village Chaurai under Bakshwaha police station area.

According to local police sources, the Chaurai village mostly houses families of Yadavs (OBC caste) and Ahirwars (scheduled caste). The Yadavs opposed the Dalit groom riding a horse in front of them, as well as offering prayers at a temple, which was located in the Yadavs dominated part of the village.

Sensing the possibility of law and order problems, cops were already escorting the groom's wedding procession during the temple run. But the procession's passage was blocked by the Yadavs when it entered their area for prayers.

The other side started pelting stones on the procession, but the police managed to get the groom to offer prayers at the temple in the Yadav-dominated area. However, while returning home, leaving for the bride's place, the groom's procession was attacked again. But this time, those forming part of the procession, also reacted. At least four cops, including two officers were hurt in the stone-pelting incidents.

Coming to know about the incident, cops from two police stations led by Chhatarpur SP and ASP rushed to the spot and ensured that the situation was brought under control at the earliest.

Dalit man's thumb chopped off in Gujarat

In Gujarat's Patan district, an upper caste group is accused of attacking a Dalit man and chopping off his thumb after the latter's nephew picked up a cricket ball during a game on the school playground. Jignesh Mevani, a Dalit activist and Congress MLA from Vadgam, along with Hitendra Pithadia, chairman of the Gujarat Congress's SC department, met with the Director general of police (DGP) of Gujarat on Tuesday to discuss registering cases against the suspects and securing the immediate arrest of all suspects. MLA Jignesh Mevani said, "An eight-year-old boy was insulted by racial slurs and threatened to be buried in the ground. Moreover, after two compromises, they attacked them with planning, cutting off half of his palm."

With 29% rise, Maha tops in FDI this year

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER lagging behind in attracting foreign investment for a few years, Maharashtra once again topped in getting foreign direct investment (FDI) with a 29% share across India.

Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said that the state is number one again in attracting FDI. Maharashtra has got Rs 1.18 lakh crore investments in 2022-2023.

"As per the findings of the Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion (DIPP) report, Maharashtra has secured the highest share of FDI at 29%, surpassing states like Karnataka with 24% and Gujarat with 17% while Delhi has 13%. We will continue to attract the FDI and will make Maharashtra the favourite destination for investment," Devendra Fadnavis added.

Fadnavis said Gujarat was ahead a few years back, but now Maharashtra is. He said there is healthy competition among all states to get the investment. "Gujarat is not Pakistan. It is our brother state. It was earlier a part of Maharashtra only but got separated. So, we are competing with Gujarat, Karnataka and other states of India to get more and more investment," he added.

Moreover, the Maharashtra government also signed a Memorandum of Understanding for 13,050 MW Hydro Pumped Storage projects with National Hydro Power Corporation (7,350 MW) & Torrent Power (5,700 MW). The agreement was signed by the officials from the Power Ministry, NHPC and Torrent Power.

"Maharashtra will get a total investment of Rs 71,000 crore and it will generate 30,000 employments besides, increasing the electricity demand of agriculture, industry and commercial sector as well. Environmental conservation through green and clean energy generation will happen. Maharashtra will be self-reliant in meeting grid balancing, meeting the peak power demand," said Fadnavis.

He also commented on the previous Uddhav Thackeray-led Maha Vikas Aghadi government's tenure. "Earlier governments lacked confidence and did not have effective leadership. This decline led to a dip in investor confidence. Corruption and blackmailing incidents tarnished the state's image, both domestically and internationally."

Ahead in competition

Maharashtra has received ₹1.18 lakh cr worth of investment in 2022-2023, the state govt said.

The investments will raise the demand for agriculture, industry and commercial sector. Environmental conservation through green and clean energy generation too will get a fillip.

> We are competing with Gujarat, Karnataka and other states to get more investment. Maharashtra will be self-reliant in meeting power grid balancing during the peak demand."

IRAN UNVEILS 'HYPERSONIC MISSILE'

TEHRAN

IRAN'S Revolutionary Guards unveiled an intermediate range ballistic missile on Tuesday capable of travelling at hypersonic speeds of up to 15 times the speed of sound, state-owned television reported.

Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi hailed the new missile's hypersonic capability, saying it would boost Iran's "power of deterrence" and "bring peace and stability to the countries of the region".

The official IRNA news agency published photographs of the ceremony in a closed area it did not identify. Several top military commanders were present, including Guards chief General Hossein Salami.

"The range of the Fattah missile is 1,400 kilometres and its speed before hitting its target" is between 13 and 15 times the speed of sound, IRNA said.

Like slower ballistic missiles, hypersonic missiles can be equipped with nuclear warheads and Iran's announcement it was producing one in November prompted International Atomic Energy Agency chief Rafael Grossi to express concern. But Grossi added he did not see the new missile "having any influence" on negotiations with Iran over its nuclear activities. Talks between Tehran and major powers on reviving a 2015 nuclear deal that was left in tatters when Washington unilaterally abandoned it in 2018 and imposed renewed sanctions are currently stalled.

Iran has since suspended its implementation of the strict limits it agreed to on its nuclear activities and restricted IAEA monitoring in a policy it is only slowly reversing.

Unlike conventional ballistic missiles, hypersonic ones fly on a trajectory low in the atmosphere, enabling them to reach their targets more quickly and with less chance of being intercepted by modern air defences.

When the programme was announced last year, Guards aerospace chief General Amirali Hajizadeh said the system was developed to "counter air defence shields", adding that he believed it would take decades before a system capable of intercepting it is developed.

Iran's arch foe Israel, which is widely believe to have its own undeclared nuclear arsenal, has multiple air defence shields for countering subsonic and supersonic missiles.

North Korea's test of a hypersonic missile last year sparked concerns about race to acquire the technology, which is currently led by Russia, followed by China and the US. AFP

Ukrainian dam partially destroyed in attack

Thousands evacuated, two dozen villages flooded; Kyiv calls it attempt by Moscow to hamper its long-awaited offensive

KHERSON

MOSCOW and Kyiv traded blame for ripping a gaping hole in the Kakhovka reservoir in what Kyiv said was an attempt by Russia to hamper Ukraine's long-awaited counteroffensive.

Thousands of people in the city of Kherson, which is the largest population centre nearby, headed for higher ground as water, which had been held back by the dam and a hydroelectric plant, rose in the Dnipro River.

"There is shooting, now there is flooding," said Lyudmyla, who had loaded a washing machine onto a cart that was attached to an old Soviet car. "Everything is going to die here," added Sergiy as water from the dam poured downstream into Kherson.

Ukrainian authorities said 17,000 people were being evacuated and a total of 24 villages had been flooded.

"Over 40,000 people are in danger of being flooded," Prosecutor General Andriy Kostin said, adding that 25,000 more people should be evacuated on the Russian-occupied side of the Dnipro River.

Vladimir Leontyev, the Moscow-installed mayor of Nova Kakhovka where the dam is located, said the city was underwater and 900 people had been evacuated.

He said 53 evacuation buses were being sent by the authorities to take people from Nova Kakhovka and two other settlements nearby to safety. "We are organising temporary accommodation centres with hot meals," he said.

The White House said there will be "likely many deaths", but added there is still no concrete evidence to say who was behind the act. The US "cannot say conclusively what happened at this point," National Security Council spokesman John Kirby said.

The US hasn't "come to a final conclusion," he said. "We're still trying to gather information and talk to the Ukrainians." The Kakhovka dam and its power plant were seized by Russia in the first hours of the war. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky accused Russia of blowing up the dam, urging the world to "react." He said Russia had carried out "an internal explosion of the structures" of the plant at 2.50 am local time. "This crime carries enormous threats and will have dire consequences for people's lives and the environment," Zelensky said.

Kyiv also called for a meeting of the UN Security Council and warned of a potential "ecocide" after 150 tonnes of engine oil spilled into the river due to the attack. AFP

Kuwait polls held amid power struggle

Voters in Kuwait were casting ballots on Tuesday for a third time in as many years, with little hope of ending a prolonged gridlock between the ruling family and assertive lawmakers after the judiciary dissolved the legislature earlier this year. Kuwait is alone among Gulf Arab countries in having a democratically elected assembly that exerts some checks on the ruling family. But in recent years, the political system has been paralysed by infighting and unable to enact even basic reforms. The voting will close at 8 pm local time and the results are expected on Wednesday

Pakistan government's debt swells to Rs 58.6 trillion

ISLAMABAD

THE Pakistan government's total debt has increased 34.1% year-on-year to Rs 58.6 trillion at the end of April, according to the latest report by the country's central bank.

The increase was 2.6% on a month-on-month basis, Dawn newspaper reported on Tuesday. The domestic debt amounted to Rs 36.5 trillion (62.3%) while the external debt accounted for a 37.6 per cent share with Rs 22 trillion at the end of April. On an annual basis, the increase in external debt remained 49.1 per cent, the State Bank of Pakistan (SBP) data showed. There was no change in the external debt figure from a month ago. Within the domestic debt, the largest share was of the federal government bonds that represented almost Rs25 trillion worth of loans. Other major contributors to the domestic debt were short-term loans (Rs7.2 trillion) and unfunded debt (Rs2.9 trillion) that included money borrowed through National Savings Schemes.

Funds obtained through federal government bonds rose 31.6% from a year ago while the increase in the stock of short-term loans remained 29.4%.

On the one hand, Pakistan is battling a prolonged balance-of-payments crisis, with foreign exchange reserves covering only a month's import bill.

On the other hand, domestic debt servicing is becoming a huge challenge for the country given that interest rate has climbed to an unprecedented level amid record-high inflation.

According to Topline Securities CEO Mohammed Sohail, the markup expense in 2023-24 will alone be more than the federal budget of 2020-21. "Interest on loans, mainly local debt, has more than doubled in two years," he said. PTI

Finland expels 9 Russian diplomats over intel work

Russian embassy in Helsinki | AFP

HELSINKI

NATO's newest member Finland on Tuesday said it would expel nine diplomats working at the Russian embassy in Helsinki for acting in an "intelligence capacity".

"Finland will expel nine people working in the Russian embassy who have been acting in an intelligence capacity," the government said.

It added that the "activities are in violation of the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations," and the announcement followed a meeting between President Sauli Niinisto and the country's Ministerial Committee on Foreign and Security Policy.

"The decisions are based on the assessment of Finnish Security Intelligence Service (SUPO)," Marja Liivala, Director General at the Foreign Ministry, told AFP.

The relationship between the neighbouring countries has deteriorated following Russia's invasion of Ukraine, which prompted Finland to break with decades of military non-alignment and apply to NATO in May 2022, formally becoming a member in April.

Finland's Foreign Minister Pekka Haavisto said in May that Russia had frozen the bank accounts of its embassy in Moscow and consulate in Saint Petersburg in late April.

The freeze coincided with the announcement by Finnish state-owned utility Fortum that control of its Russian subsidiary had been seized by Moscow, after President Vladimir Putin signed a presidential decree approving the takeover.

In February, Finland also began the construction of a pilot project for a 200-kilometre fence on the Russian border.

Symbolising a significant policy change, the new three-meter-tall metal fence will replace the existing light wooden fences on the border, primarily intended to prevent livestock from straying into the other side. AFP

TRIBUNAL ORDER

SAT quashes revocation of Brickwork Ratings licence

DIPAK MONDAL @New Delhi

IN a big relief to Brickwork Ratings, the Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT) has quashed a Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) order cancelling the rating agency's licence.

In an order passed on Tuesday, the appellate tribunal said that the order of cancellation of the license for violations committed by the rating agency is unjustified and is not in proportion with the alleged violations.

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) October last year had cancelled the registration of Brickwork Ratings India and had asked it to shut down its operations within six months for repeated lapses in 'discharging' its duties.

The capital market regulator had earlier imposed monetary penalties on and recommended governance changes in Brickwork Ratings after it found several instances of lapses by the agency.

Following the Sebi order, the rating agency had moved SAT against the order.

In its order, the appellate tribunal has said the violations as pointed out by Sebi are routine operational errors, which have unnecessarily been escalated to regulatory proceedings.

The appellate tribunal even said that the violations are trivial in nature. "Isolated instances by not meeting the rating criteria, not signing the minutes of the meeting, not recording the names of the attendees of the meeting of the rating committee, failure to comply with the timelines specified in the appellant's manual are such violations which do not warrant cancellation of the licence of the appellant," said the order.

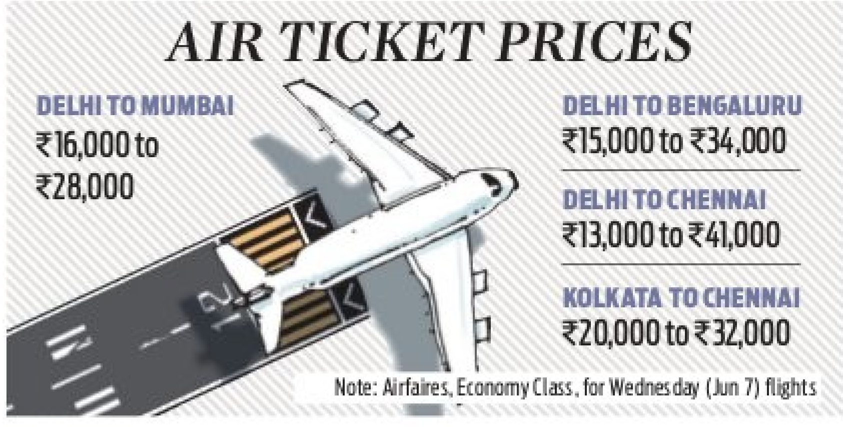
The SAT even said that the charge of conflict of interest is not that serious which by itself could warrant cancellation of the license of the appellant.

In its concluding remark, the SAT said Sebi should pass a fresh order on the quantum of penalty other than the order of the cancellation.

Airfares continue to remain high

Economy class ticket price for Wednesday on Delhi-Mumbai route is ₹16,000-₹28,000

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi



AIR TICKET PRICES

DELHI TO MUMBAI
₹16,000 to ₹28,000

DELHI TO BENGALURU
₹15,000 to ₹34,000

DELHI TO CHENNAI
₹13,000 to ₹41,000

KOLKATA TO CHENNAI
₹20,000 to ₹32,000

Note: Airfaires, Economy Class, for Wednesday (Jun 7) flights

DESPITE the government's request to self-monitor airfares, airlines continue to sell tickets at very high prices. When checked on Tuesday, a single one-way ticket price for Wednesday in the economy class on Delhi-Mumbai route was being sold between ₹16,000 and ₹28,000.

Similarly, for the Delhi-Chennai route, a single ticket was sold between ₹13,000 and ₹41,000 for flights on Wednesday in economy class. For Kolkata to Chennai, the same was between ₹20,000 and ₹32,000 while for Delhi to Bengaluru, the fares were between ₹15,000 and ₹34,000.

As airfares have surged up to 10 times on select routes in the last few weeks, aviation minister Jyotiraditya Scindia on Monday held a meeting with the representatives of airlines and asked them to self-regulate ticket prices, especially on the routes where a big vacuum is created due to the grounding of Go First.

"The airlines must self-monitor airfares on certain select routes that have seen considerable surge pricing of late, particularly those that were earlier being serviced by Go First - a mechanism for ensuring reasonable pricing within the high RBDs (Reservation Booking Designator) may be devised by airlines. This shall be monitored by the aviation sector regulator DGCA," Scindia had said after meeting the Airlines Advisory Group.

When asked if they are adhering to the minister's suggestion, two leading carriers- Air India and IndiGo - did not issue a comment.

Airfares have skyrocketed since the grounding of cash-strapped Go First on May 3. The carrier, which is going through insolvency proceedings, used to carry 8-9 lakh passengers per month.

The suspension of its flight is helping other airlines to benefit from the vacuum created, especially during the peak summer season.

Airfares have skyrocketed across metro city routes and across centres such as Ahmedabad, Pune, Leh and Srinagar where Go First had a strong presence.

Owing to this, Delhi-Leh's return fares had crossed ₹50,000 some days back.

Byju's to halt $1.2 billion loan payments until court order

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

EDTECH firm Byju's has elected not to make any further payments on a $1.2 billion Term Loan B (TLB), including any interest until the dispute with the lenders is decided by the court. According to reports, the interest stood at about $40 million and was due on Monday.

Byju's on Tuesday said it has filed a complaint with the New York Supreme Court to challenge the acceleration of the $ 1.2 billion TLB and sought to disqualify Redwood, an investment management firm. It alleged that a series of predatory tactics were conducted by the lenders, led by Redwood. Byju's had raised the term loan in November 2021. In March this year, the TLB lenders "unlawfully" accelerated the TLB on account of certain alleged non-monetary and technical defaults, Byju's claimed.

"On the back of this unconscionable acceleration of the TLB, the TLB lenders undertook unwarranted enforcement measures including seizing control of Byju's Alpha and appointing its own management. Not resting content with this, the TLB lenders (acting through their agent, GLAS Trust Company) commenced litigation in Delaware in an attempt to lend credence to these actions," the country's most valuable start-up said.

Byju's files complaint with New York court

Byju's on Tuesday said it has filed a complaint with New York Supreme Court to challenge acceleration of $ 1.2 bn TLB and sought to disqualify Redwood, an investment management firm. It alleged a series of predatory tactics were conducted by the lenders, led by Redwood

Last month, Byju's refuted allegations of lenders that Byju's Alpha, its US entity, had hidden $500 million. The company categorically denied allegations and said this is entirely incorrect. The lawsuit was filed by Glas Trust Company against Byju's Alpha, its director Riju Ravindran and Tangible Play. Both companies are units of Think and Learn Private, founded by Byju Raveendran.

Byju's said on Tuesday "Redwood – a lender known to primarily trade in distressed debt – consistently increased its exposure by acquiring a sizable stake in the TLB with the intent of making windfall gains. In the wake of all these actions, Byju's was left with no option but to commence proceedings in New York – the contractually agreed forum – challenging the acceleration," It said.

Along with this, Byju's has also issued a notice to Redwood entities disqualifying them. The company also said it remains financially robust with significant cash reserves, and it is open to discussions with the TLB lenders.

Sequoia Capital splits into three different units

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

VENTURE capital firm Sequoia India & Southeast Asia will be known as Peak XV Partners globally. Sequoia said the rebranding has come after Sequoia Capital (US/Europe), Sequoia China and Sequoia India & Southeast Asia have decided to become independent firms with distinct brands.

The firm said since inception, Sequoia Capital (US/Europe), Sequoia China and Sequoia India/SEA have been built as separate businesses with independent investment decision making. Over the years, the strategies for each business have diverged and the scale and market leadership across different geographies has started to result in brand confusion and portfolio conflict.

Over the last 17 years, Sequoia India & SEA has raised 13 funds, invested in over 400 start-ups, with over 50 companies valued at $1 billion and above. The portfolio has seen 19 IPOs and multiple successful M&As resulting in $4.5 billion of realized exits so far, the firm said.

GOVT DEBT SWELLS TO ₹58.6 TRILLION

The State Bank of Pakistan (SBP) data on Tuesday showed total debt of the country's government has increased 34.1% year-on-year to ₹58.6 trillion at the end of April. The increase in external debt remained 49.1% on annual basis. Pakistan's domestic debt was at ₹36.5 trillion (62.3₹) and the external debt accounted for a 37.6% share with ₹22 trillion at the end of April. The external debt figure remained same from a month ago but domestic rose 2.6% on month-on-month basis. Largest share of the domestic debt was federal government bonds at nearly ₹25 trillion worth of loans. With foreign exchange reserves covering only a month's import bill, the country is battling a balance-of-payments crisis. At the same time, domestic debt servicing is also becoming a huge challenge for Pakistan given interest rate has climbed to an unprecedented level amid record-high inflation. The country's inflation level rose by 36.4% in the year in April, driven mainly by food prices. This is the highest level of inflation in South Asia, and up from 35.4% in March, according to SBP data.

PHILIPPINES

MAY INFLATION SLOWS TO 6.1%, BELOW FORECASTS

The Philippines annual inflation eased for a fourth consecutive month in May at 6.1% from 6.6% in April, government data released on Tuesday showed. May inflation level is lower than the forecast made by economists at 6.2% year-n-year. The country's central bank had a 5.8% to 6.6% projection for the month. Inflation in May is lowest level in 12 months as food prices continued to ease. This gives the central bank room to keep benchmark interest rates steady. Core inflation slowed to a four-month low of 7.7% from April's 7.9%. Headline inflation averaged 7.5% in the first five months of 2023, which is still above the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas' (BSP) 2-4% target range for the year.

'India to be $1 trln internet economy by 2030 on shift in consumer behaviour'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA will become a $1 trillion internet economy by 2030, thanks to a continued shift in consumer and merchant behaviour, matched with strong investor confidence, according to a report by Google, Temasek and Bain & Company released on Tuesday.

Digital services are fast becoming integral to India's 700M+ internet users, which includes 350 million digital payment users and 220 million online shoppers. The growth will be led by the B2C (business-to-consumer) e-commerce segment, followed by B2B(business-to-business) e-commerce, software-as-a-service providers and online media led by over-the-top players.

"Structural shifts in consumption potential are opening up a vast opportunity for start-ups, large businesses and MSMEs to power India's internet economy towards a projected growth of 6x, reaching a trillion dollars by 2030," said Sanjay Gupta, country manager & vice-President, Google India.

The report also noted that the India Stack has been fundamental to making public goods and services accessible to citizens and businesses via digital platforms.

Services such as Aadhaar, United Payments Interface (UPI) and Digilocker have been instrumental to unlocking the expansion of the country's internet economy.

"This has set the stage for disruptive open networks like the Open Network for Digital Commerce (ONDC), Open Credit Enablement Network (OCEN) and Unified Health Interface (UHI) that have opened new opportunities for existing and new sectors as they await the inflection point," reads the report.

The report also said that the flourishing internet economy in India presents a compelling opportunity for businesses to capitalise on.

MPC meet: Pause in rate hike likely to continue

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

AFTER surprising the market with a repo rate cut in April, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is expected to maintain status quo and leave repo rate unchanged at 6.5% in its monetary policy review meeting.

The downward trajectory of inflation, trend in economic growth, monsoon and global economic conditions will influence the decision of RBI's Monetary Policy Committee (MPC), which will be announced on Thursday. The three-day meeting of RBI's six-member MPC began on Tuesday.

The members of the MPC, headed by Reserve Bank Governor Shaktikanta Das, will be relieved by recent fall in the prices. The consumer price-based (CPI) inflation has declined to an 18-month low of 4.7% in April. It was the second month in a row that inflation remained within the RBI's comfort zone of below 6%. Retail inflation was 5.66% in March 2023 and 7.79% in the year-ago period.

The central bank expects inflation to fall further as it estimates CPI inflation to be 5.2% for the current fiscal.

"RBI MPC will have gained confidence on both the inflation and GDP growth trajectory. A wait-and-watch would work best now with the stance remaining cautious. We don't expect RBI to change its inflation and GDP growth forecasts for FY24," Suvodeep Rakshit, Senior Economist, Kotak Institutional Equities told this newspaper.

"The markets will focus more on the central bank's commentary on liquidity with durable liquidity having increased sharply. Overall, we maintain our expectations of a pause from the RBI in the June policy without changing its stance," he said.

Experts expect the policy stance of the central bank to remain withdrawal of accommodation, given increase in the liquidity in the banking system.

Liquidity surplus in the system has increased with the Net Liquidity Adjustment Facility (LAF) absorption at Rs2.4 lakh crore as on June 1 compared to surplus of ₹2.1 lakh crore at the beginning of the fiscal year. Liquidity is likely to increase further in coming months owing to deposit of ₹2000 notes.

"The stance could continue to be withdrawal of accommodation, as liquidity has turned into significant surplus mode," said Soumya Kanti Ghosh, Group Chief Economic Adviser, SBI.

The central bank will keep a close watch on the progress of monsoon and the effects of El Nino, which has emerged as a key concern and can affect the kharif harvest and hence impact prices.

I-T official denies reports of BBC admitting to tax evasion

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

AMID reports of British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) admitting to underreporting its India income by ₹40 crore, a top government official denied the reports.

As per the official, there is no such standard operating procedure (SOP) of informal or formal emailing. "There is a legal process of assessment. There is no such SOP of formal or informal emailing. Indian tax laws don't allow any liberal treatment if the taxpayer accepts misdoing," the official told this newspaper. Some sections of media reported BBC has admitted to tax evasion and under-reporting of income by ₹40 crore through an informal email.

The income tax department had conducted a three-day survey of BBC offices in Delhi and Mumbai in February, which revealed the income of its various group entities was not commensurate with the scale of operations in India. As per the official, BBC filing revised return will not help as one can file it only for last financial year.

"The tax concealment can be for over a year. So, filing revised returns won't help. They have to file returns now in response to notice under Section 148 to be issued by the department as per the procedure, after giving an opportunity. It is too preponderous to respond to it," the official cited above said.

As per experts, a survey is an information gathering exercise and should not be confused with search, commonly known as 'raid'. During survey proceedings, tax authorities can gather information and record statements of the taxpayer. However, a statement on oath can't be obtained during the survey.

Finance ministry in February had said, ".. the survey (of BBC premises) has thrown up several discrepancies and inconsistencies with regard to Transfer Pricing documentation. Such discrepancies relate to the level of relevant function, asset and risk (FAR) analysis, incorrect use of comparables that are applicable to determine the correct arms length price and inadequate revenue appointment, among others."

A query sent to BBC didn't elicit a response. "The statements made by the taxpayer during Survey Proceedings, by themselves, do not constitute admissible evidence, and can even be retracted by the taxpayer in subsequent proceedings. Also, tax can't be imposed during Survey. The information gathered during survey is subsequently used by the authorities during regular assessments or may culminate into a separate search proceeding against the taxpayer," CA Chetan Daga, founder of AdvantEdge Consulting said.

Bajaj Finserv forays into mutual fund biz, competition to intensify in industry

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

DIVERSIFIED financial services group Bajaj Finserv has forayed into mutual fund sector by launching a new Asset Management Company (AMC) Bajaj Finserv Mutual Fund on Tuesday, making it the 43rd player in the mutual fund industry with Asset Under Management (AUM) of above ₹40 lakh crore.

The entry of Bajaj group will further intensify competition in the mutual fund industry, which is skewed in favour of big players with the top eight fund houses having a 75% share in industry AUM.

It will aim for differentiation and innovation to grow its business. "We have not set any target to grow our AUM because our focus is on innovation and differentiation," said Sanjiv Bajaj, Chairman and managing director, Bajaj Finserv, addressing a press conference held to announce the launch of a new company. "We believe the asset management business positions Bajaj Finserv for an exciting new chapter of growth," he added. Despite being a late entrant, the management is confident about the prospects of growth of the new entity as the company hopes to leverage Bajaj group's customer base of 10 crore to drive its mutual fund business. "The launch of asset management helps diversify our retail franchise and leverage Bajaj Finserv companies' combined strength in financial services across a much larger customer base," added Bajaj.

The mutual fund will launch three schemes in the fixed income, liquid and money market products by the end of month, and will have four more soon, depending on regulatory approvals. "Yes, we're a late entrant but not worried about that. In fact, we want to tap into the advantages of being the late entrant that places us on a better footing. Because this late entry gives us advantages of knowing what works and what doesn't work," explained Bajaj.

Benzema signs for Saudi Arabia's Al-Ittihad: Source

Real Madrid's Ballon d'Or winner Karim Benzema has signed for Saudi Arabia's Al-Ittihad for three years starting next season, a source in the Jeddah-based club told AFP on Tuesday. "Benzema has signed a contract for his transfer to Al-Ittihad for a three-year period starting next season," the Saudi club source said.

One of the country's most successful red-ball teams of all time face Australia in the WTC final, with a lot riding on the outcome including the complex question of greatness

TEST LEGACY AT STAKE

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
EXPRESS @ WTC FINAL
LONDON

India players Axar Patel and Cheteshwar Pujara during a net session at The Oval Cricket Ground in London on Monday | AP

IN April, Giannis Antetokounmpo, an NBA star for the Milwaukee Bucks, went to a place where few sportspersons seldom do. The Bucks, one of the favourites for the title after topping the Eastern Conference, lost their way against Miami Heat in the first round to lose 1-4 in the best-of-seven series.

When one of the reporters asked Antetokounmpo if the season was a failure, the forward wasn't too thrilled with the suggestion. "It's not a failure," he had said. "It's steps to success. Michael Jordan played 15 years, won six Championships. The other nine years were failures? That's what you are telling me? It's the wrong question. There's no failure. There's good days, bad days. Some days, you are successful. Some days you are not. That's what sports is about."

Sport may well be about that but for some teams, it's about the gongs at the end. Winning title matches. Win gold or go home because coming second best does not move the needle.

Rohit Sharma and his immediate predecessor, Virat Kohli and Rahul Dravid and his immediate predecessor, Ravi Shastri, know this feeling only too well. They have all faced some variation of the question Antetokounmpo got over the last few years.

In India's first official press conference of the World Test Championship final on Monday, Dravid was asked about the ICC title drought and the pressure associated with it. "We don't feel any pressure in terms of trying to win an ICC trophy," he had said. "Of course, it would be nice to do it. It would certainly be nice to be able to win an ICC tournament. But also in the context of things, you look at this and you see this is the culmination of two years of work. It's a culmination of a lot of success that gets you here." To be fair to Dravid, India have had a lot of success not just in the current Test cycle but even in the cycle before that. Multiple Test wins in England, series wins in Australia, an almost spotless record at home and putting together a streak that could rival any put together by past Indian teams.

These are things that's worthy of a celebration. But — there's always a but in this context — for all their domination, a world title is a different beast. You get to live in an air worthy of greatness. Think about it in this context. They may have beaten the same opposition home and away in the group stages but if they can't beat them in the final, those group stage wins count for little.

Since the beginning of August 1, 2019 — the beginning of the inaugural WTC cycle — India have the second most number of wins with 22 (one behind England who have played 14 Tests more). But the team lost the one match that mattered the most — the first WTC final, against New Zealand at Southampton.

It was in this context that Sharma was asked a pointed question at the pre-match conference on Tuesday. While it pertained to his legacy as captain, it can generally be applied to this Golden Generation, who have developed into an outstanding red-ball unit since they started coming together as a group after the 2011 World Cup. As they grew older, they quickly developed into an all-terrain side thanks to a seam attack that eliminated conditions from the equation and a world-class spin duo that used every inch of home advantage to sharpen their already useful armoury. The problem, though, is this team is at the end of its cycle. Four of the top five are 34 or older. If Ravichandran Ashwin plays, three of the frontline bowlers, including Ravindra Jadeja, will be 34 or over. So the window to leave behind a legacy is closing.

"I want to win games, I want to win Championships," Sharma said when asked about how he would like his tenure to look like when he walks away. "It will be nice to win some titles... every captain wants to win Championships, So I will be no different. I also want to win (the) Championship. That's what the sport is all about, winning Championships."

But Sharma is also mindful of the expectations this team faces. Like Dravid, he too was quick to downplay the pressure aspect. "We know what we have won and what we have not won. There is no point in thinking about it again and again," he said when he was reminded about the drought. "Last year when we were in Australia for the T20 World Cup, we were asked the same question, and I answered the same question. The players know when India won and when they didn't. I don't think it is right to think about it again and again."

The next five or six days will either produce more angst or an outpouring of joy, depending on which way the result goes. But whether Sharma and this team like it or not, if they don't have a title to show at the end of the week, this team will be clubbed as another side that came near but failed to cross the finish line.

EVOLVING SCENARIOS IN OVAL

Shubman Gill has been batting heavenly but he's yet to crack England. Can Scott Boland be Australia's x factor. A look at some of the talking points from the Oval ahead of the one-off World Test Championship final between India and Australia...

GILL vs STARC

In four innings in England -- admittedly a small sample size -- the opener averages 14.25. But he's been batting beautifully in 2023 and has centuries in all three formats. To state the obvious, how he tackles the new ball will be key and key to that particular battle will be Mitchell Starc's angle. But Gill has played Starc with ease. Across nine innings, he has scored 130 runs from 140 balls, without losing his wicket. Can he master the seamer in this format in a third continent?

COMBINATIONS

With less than 16 hours to go for the Test, the wicket still had a lot of grass on the surface. If it doesn't get a trim on the eve of the match, India could well play four seamers and one spinner. Adding to that is the fact that while the start to the English summer has been largely dry, the mornings have been still cold and windy. So there is bound to be some juice on the surface.

BOLAND IN FOR HAZLEWOOD

The absence of Josh Hazlewood's nagging, irritating back-of-a-length bail-trimming line would have been music to India's batters. But Scott Boland, who will take his place barring any last minute surprises, is a capable deputy. He can move the ball and can be a very skiddy customer to handle. He targets the pads and could well win several lbw decisions.

Early start as India seek best XI

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ London

AT 10.30 AM on Tuesday, one of the most popular sartorial choices was some sort of a sweater. The Oval was slightly overcast but more than the overhead conditions, the wind was having an effect. It was cold and you wanted a cup of steaming hot beverage to wake you up, especially if you have come from a place where 40*c has been the norm the last month.

It's the early part of the English summer, the football has just finished, there's an Ashes around the corner and the trees are beginning to bloom. But the surest sign of leaving spring behind is the start of Test cricket following the Indian Premier League (IPL).

Days after the IPL finished, England opened their red-ball season with a comfortable 10-wicket win over Ireland in a one-off Test. After that one-off Test, the country is all ready to play host to another one-off Test, this one to identify the winner of the second World Test Championship cycle.

The match between India and Australia promises to be a fascinating battle between two bowling attacks who have consistently outperformed two stylish but fragile batting units.

While these two sides met in this format as recently as March, the difference between, say, New Delhi or Indore and The Oval couldn't be starker. One can even say it may not be fair to compare previous matches played at The Oval to this one. The earliest previous Test at this venue in the year was July 8 1982 (Oval usually hosts one of the final Tests of the Summer).

ROHIT HIT ON THE THUMB

At India's optional practice session, Sharma was hit on the thumb. After continuing to play on after taping the area, he stopped after sometime. Only four of the 15 players of the touring party turned up for the session.

Will that necessarily make a difference? Skipper Rohit Sharma doesn't think so. "We have been hearing about not much of cricket being played here in June, but the county season actually has been played here," he said at the pre-match press conference. "We saw there was a game played a couple of weeks back here. So, it's not like it's the first game of the season on this ground. We are quite aware of what the conditions are, what is going to happen in the next five days. The weather forecast looks all right. But yeah, in terms of the combination, I think it's better that we wait till tomorrow (Wednesday). That's a common answer (laugh), I think." Now, The Oval is one of those grounds that closely resembles the subcontinent in that it follows the template of assisting spin as the match wears on.

The last time India played at the venue, it was September 2021 and the seamers accounted for 17 of the first 19 wickets. While Ravindra Jadeja got increasing purchase in England's second innings, Jasprit Bumrah also got the ball to hoop inwards. Sharma was mindful of that. "When we played the last Test match here in Oval, it looked very similar to this. And then as the game went on, as the day went on, it got better and better, slower and slower. And the reverse swing came into play as well on Day Five. So, yeah, we're going to consider all of those factors and see what will be the right combination for us to go."

Right now, though, they seem to be battling with the age-old conundrum of whether to leave Ravichandran Ashwin out for a seaming all-rounder like Shardul Thakur (he made two blazing half-centuries and picked up three wickets in that match in September). The combination of the earlier start, a likely cold beginning and the pitch having a greenish tinge may mean going against the former.

"I have not said that Ashwin is not going to play. We will wait until tomorrow (Wednesday) — because one thing I have seen here — the pitch actually changes quite a bit day to day. Today it's looking the way it is. Tomorrow it might be slightly different, who knows." On Tuesday evening, the sun was finally out after playing hide and seek the entire day. For India, blue skies and a dry surface will always be comfort food and they will hope for that.

Cold & windy beginning

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ London

ICC WORLD TEST CHAMPIONSHIP FINAL 2023

MAY 2023 was one of the driest Mays in recent recorded UK history. The Met Office's official blog wrote in the beginning of June: "... only 55% of expected rainfall was recorded (39mm), compared with the long-term average from 1991-2020. This makes May 2023 one of the driest Mays in recent times..."

This type of data is relevant before a big final like the one beginning at The Oval in a little over eight hours. From this, one may infer that the pitch could be on the drier side, for starters. But India will have to take other factors into cognisance.

While Rohit Sharma doesn't think the early start will have a huge effect on the conditions (the final is slated to begin at 10.30 AM local time, a good 30 minutes before the usual starting time), the overhead conditions is one to keep an eye on. While spring is over in the UK, the mornings are still cold and windy. On both Monday and Tuesday, the sun didn't come out well into the afternoon and there was genuine chill in the air (once it came out, it remained bright and sunny till well into the evening).

The forecast itself is for a clear start to the Test rain wise before a prediction for wet weather in the weekend.

Postecoglou named new Spurs manager

LONDON: Tottenham have appointed Ange Postecoglou as their new manager on a four-year deal. The 57-year-old Aussie, who won the domestic Scottish treble with Celtic this season, will replace Antonio Conte at the Premier League club. Conte left Spurs by "mutual agreement" in March, with Cristian Stellini and then Ryan Mason taking charge. Postecoglou will join the club on July 1. "Ange brings a positive mentality and a fast, attacking style of play," Tottenham chairman Daniel Levy said.

Kerala Blasters shut down women's team

BENGALURU: In a setback for women's sports in the country, Kerala Blasters on Tuesday temporarily shut down their women's team owing to "financial crunches" arising out of sanctions imposed on the club after the men's side walked out of an ISL playoff fixture last season. The AIFF had imposed a fine of `4 crore on the Blasters after the men's team walked out of the match against Bengaluru FC on March 3, protesting against a contentious Sunil Chhetri goal from a free kick.

Sunil wins gold with borrowed pole vault

YECHEON (SOUTH KOREA): Competing with a pole vault borrowed from the organisers, Sunil Kumar won the decathlon gold with his personal best performance in the Asian U-20 Athletics Championship. The 18-year-old suffered a setback much before stepping out on the track and field when a South Korean airlines and Air India barred him from carrying his pole vault due to "technical issues" relating to the 5-m length of the equipment. But that did not stop Sunil from bagging the gold.

Srikanth wins; Sindhu, Prannoy make exit

SINGAPORE: India's Kidambi Srikanth made a winning start but PV Sindhu, HS Prannoy and Lakshya Sen were ousted from the Singapore Open Super 750 tournament here. Srikanth beat Thailand's Kantaphon Wangcharoen 21-15, 21-19 in the opening round of men's singles competition. Sindhu lost to World No 1 Akane Yamaguchi. Prannoy lost to Japan's Kodai Naraoka while Lakshya lost to Chou Tien-chen. Sindhu, who broke down at the post-match interaction, promised that she would come back stronger.

Djokovic fights back to get past Khachanov

Novak Djokovic celebrates his victory over Russia's Karen Khachanov | AFP

NOVAK Djokovic beat Karen Khachanov 4-6, 7-6 (0), 6-2, 6-4 on Tuesday to reach the last four. Djokovic, chasing a third French Open crown and record 23rd men's Grand Slam singles title, advanced to a 45th major semifinal and his 12th at Roland Garros.

Djokovic dropped his first set of the tournament but dominated the second-set tie-break against Khachanov before putting his foot down to secure a ninth win in 10 meetings with the Russian 11th seed.

"I think he was a better player for most of the first two sets," said Djokovic.

"I was struggling to find my rhythm. I came into the match quite slow but played a perfect tie-break and from that moment onwards played a couple levels higher.

"It's a big fight, something you expect in the quarter-finals. You're not going to have your victories handed to you, you have to earn them."

Djokovic improved his record at Roland Garros to 90-16 after denying Khachanov his spot in a third successive Grand Slam semi-final. He will return to number one if he wins the title in Paris.

Meanwhile, Aryna Sabalenka will play Karolina Muchova in the semifinals after the Belarusian World No 2 won a politically-charged match against Ukraine's Elina Svitolina 6-4, 6-4.

RESULTS: Quarterfinals: Men: Novak Djokovic (SRB x3) bt Karen Khachanov (x11) 4-6, 7-6 (7/0), 6-2, 6-4; Women: Karolina Muchova (CZE) bt Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova 7-5, 6-2, Aryna Sabalenka (x2) bt Elina Svitolina (UKR) 6-4, 6-4

WFI elections very soon, says IOA chief Usha

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

PT USHA, the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) president, said on Tuesday that Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) elections will take place very soon. The IOA is keeping a close watch on wrestling and is going to announce a returning officer to conduct the elections as early as possible.

The United World Wrestling, the world governing body, had earlier warned India that if the 45-day deadline, which ends on June 17, is not kept then India may face suspension. The sports ministry had asked the IOA to form an ad hoc committee to run the day-to-day affairs of the WFI and also to name a retired High Court judge as a returning officer to conduct elections within 45 days. The ad hoc committee comprising Bhupender Singh Bajwa and national shooting coach Suma Shirur was formed on April 27 and took charge of WFI on May 4. However, the returning officer has not been named as of now.

Usha on Tuesday insisted that the IOA is very much focussed on conducting the elections but since there was a slew of competitions lined up they were more concerned about the selection of athletes. "The wrestlers should not suffer and we called for selection trials," Usha told this newspaper.

"WFI elections must take place. Even we are concerned about it. But our priority was to conduct the trials first."

The IOA too had formed a six-member committee to probe the top wrestlers' allegations against sidelined WFI chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh in January. There were indications that the IOA would want some kind of normalcy to prevail before conducting the elections. The IOA president also said that the ad hoc committee has been successfully conducting the selection trials. "The kids are our priority and we needed to send teams to the U-15 and U-20 Asian wrestling championships," she said. "We conducted open trials where more than 2500 wrestlers participated. I personally wanted to see the trials and went to Sonepat. I must say it is being conducted successfully." Earlier, the ad hoc committee had conducted trials to select U-17 and 23 teams for the Asian Championships.

Usha said that the IOA is in the process of announcing a returning officer who will take care of the election process. "We have a few names and it will be finalised soon" she said. Bajwa, an ad hoc committee member, had earlier told this daily that the panel is responsible for conducting selection trials and the elections will be conducted by the IOA.

Even as Usha looks optimistic about holding WFI polls soon, the IOA seems to be running out of time with only a few days remaining before the deadline ends. All eyes will now be on UWW and how it reacts once the deadline is over.

FUNDED AT HOME

At a time when there is much banter between landlords and tenants, this startup founder found an angel investor in his landlord

MONIKA MONALISA

Of late there have been numerous stories of bizarre requirements raised by house owners before they agree to give out their spaces to potential tenants. From Class 10 marks to qualifications and food habits...the list is long and often shared on social media. So this startup founder's story comes as a welcome change with him finding an angel investor in his landlord.

On June 3, Pawan Gupta, co-founder of a matrimony site which makes use of artificial intelligence, found his tweet going viral. He shared a snippet of his conversation between him and his landlord, Sushil Shetty, from whom he got ₹8 lakh (approx. $10,000) of funding. "It was a low-key weekend for the team so I didn't know that people started talking about the story. It was only through my social media team that I heard about it," says Gupta, who started the matrimonial company in 2017.

Gupta, who has been living in Shetty's house in HSR Layout as a tenant for the last two years, says it was a pleasant surprise for him too. "Sushil currently lives in Texas and initially didn't have much of an idea about my company. However, a couple of months ago, Sushil was in India and was visiting me. We were chatting and I started talking about my business. The conversation went towards investment and he showed some interest. At that point in time, I advised against it and instead wanted him to know more about the project before deciding," says Gupta, who has always had a cordial relationship with his landlord. "What does a homeowner look out for? A non-problematic tenant. And I try to maintain that trust factor," says Gupta.

On the other hand, Shetty calls this move a calculated risk. "This is my first investment in an Indian startup. I have invested in companies in the US in the past, and always make my investments based on the initial pitch, the journey, and above all the founders. In startups, I believe, there is a 'leap of faith' and intuition. Investing in startups is risky and Indians traditionally are risk-averse," says Shetty, adding that he is glad that Gupta's family took over his home like their own.

1. With the imperial permission of the Vijayanagara Kingdom, Kempegowda-I, chieftain of a small province called Yelahanka, had his dream township called 'Bengaluru' planned and built in 1537. Emperor Achyuta Deva Raya acknowledging Kempegowda's zeal and loyalty, granted him many villages located around Bengaluru with a revenue of 30,000 varahas. What was the capital of Vijayanagara Empire then?

2. Misfortunes plagued Kempegowda while erecting the mud fort of the new-flanked township as the main gate would collapse every night despite efforts to strengthen it. Legend (no historical evidence to support it) has it that, it was only after the self-sacrifice of Lakshmamma, Kempegowda's daughter-in-law, that the fort gate stood firm. Heartbroken Kempegowda later built a Lakshmi temple in her memory on the outskirts (today an upscale locality) of the city. Name the area in which this legendary temple is located.

3. Having ruled for about 46 years and laying a strong foundation for a futuristic city, Kempegowda died in 1569. However, there was no clue on his burial place until recently when a history enthusiast discovered a 16th century tomb in 2015 in a village about 50 km south of Bengaluru. The tomb carries a Kannada inscription confirming that of Hiriya Kempegowda (Kempegowda-I) who died at the spot while returning from Kunigal. Which neighbouring town (where the Kempegowda family lineage still lives) was the tomb discovered?

DUAL ROLE

Spider-Man is the first superhero film I watched as a child

Cricketer Shubman Gill, who has dubbed in Hindi and Punjabi for the recent release, Spider-Man: Across the Spider-Verse, talks about his love for the friendly neighbourhood superhero and how he coped with the challenges of voice-acting

SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

There's a precision to Shubman Gill's batting. Even when he's smashing sixes, there's a pre-programmed quality to his hitting – almost like he's doing what's necessary, nothing more, nothing less. A similar precision comes through as he speaks about dubbing in Hindi and Punjabi for the recently released, Spider-Man: Across the Spider-Verse. Like many of his generation, Gill fell in love with the Spider-Man character played by Tobey Maguire. "It's the first superhero film I watched on cable TV. I was already a fan of that poster…that iconic visual with skyscrapers in Spider-Man's large eyes?" he says.

Gill didn't have a Spider-Man costume though. "I didn't find anything that fit," he says. It didn't stop him from imitating the superhero. Most children would stop with trying to shoot cobwebs from the wrist, but Gill climbed on door frames and even walls. His job as a voice artiste, of course, didn't involve such physical challenges, but Gill points out it was hardly straightforward. "As a batsman, I'm clear in my objectives for every innings. It helps that I have practised. So, I feel no pressure on the ground even if lakhs are watching. Here, nobody was watching me, and yet, it was difficult. Sometimes, I could recognise immediately after speaking a line that I didn't quite sound right." The difference between cinema and cricket is that you get retakes in films. Despite the apparent benefits, he isn't tempted. "Cricket would be no fun. It's exciting only because you don't get a second chance."

Gill is the first sportsperson from India to dub for a Hollywood film. "I was surprised when a friend brought this opportunity to me." He had no qualms about accepting it, as he felt it presented him with a new challenge, amplified further by it being an animated film. "The dialogues had to feel more animated than usual. I had to bring a childlike quality to my voice as well."

The assignment has helped him recognise new parts of his personality. "I had to portray emotions I wasn't used to," he says. Perhaps his advertisement experience came in handy? "A bit, yes," he agrees. "But we rarely get melodramatic for an ad. The range of emotions you express for a film is incredible." For a recent promotional video of the film, Gill posed like Spider-Man on top of a car, displaying showmanship we rarely see from him on a cricket ground. Perhaps he will act, some day? "Maybe, but I don't think I'm skilled enough to be an actor, right now."

His voice-acting is for an Indian Spider-Man called Pavitr Prabhakar, one of many Spider-Man characters in the film. Every time the idea has been explored in the Marvel universe, it has resulted in multiple versions of the same character realising their purpose, which leads to a reinforcement of their separate identities. For Gill, this realisation of self-worth happened when he represented the Under-16 side of Punjab and turned out to be the highest scorer. "That's when I knew I was on the right track. Prabhsimran, Prithvi, Arshdeep…All of us were in the same batch, and I realised that I had what it took to become a cricketer."

Gill and Spider-Man have one common quality: the ability to manage multiple responsibilities. "He's a superhero, a school student, a boyfriend. My life too demands that I manage several tasks, and I think I'm quite good at it." Given that these polished responses come from Gill a day after scoring a century to take his IPL team into the finals, it's hard to disagree.

> As a batsman, I'm clear in my objectives for every innings...I feel no pressure on the cricket ground even if lakhs are watching. Here (in the dubbing process), nobody was watching me, and yet, it was difficult

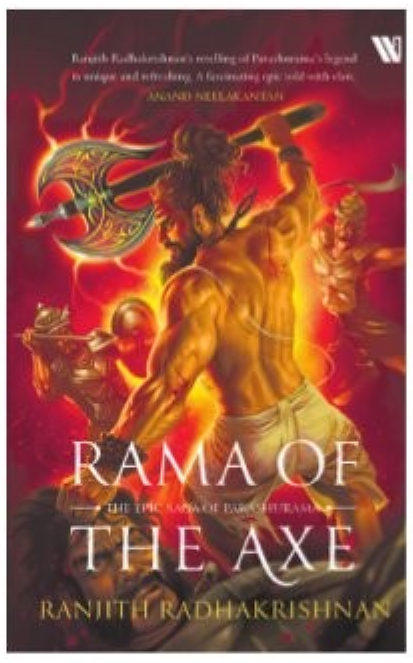
RETELLING A LEGEND

TURNING PAGES



Ranjith Radhakrishnan's retelling of Parashurama's legend is unique and refreshing. A fascinating epic solid with class. ANAND NEELAKANTAN
RAMA OF THE AXE
THE EPIC SAGA OF PARASHURAMA
RANJITH RADHAKRISHNAN

RAMABHADRA wiped the sweat off his brow. Perspiration clung to him like a second skin, his muscular body glistening with it. Pearls of sweat beaded his thick beard. He was up well before dawn. Thoughts of Ma flooded his mind, making his heart sink with worry. He had grown frustrated at his inability to do anything about it, caught between his father's intractable nature and his mother's quiet acceptance.

He had made his way to this small clearing in the forest, well away from the ashram, stripped to his loincloth and thrown himself into strenuous physical exercise. He was strong, he knew, stronger than any man he had met, and he had baked that strength into muscle and sinew in the fire of discipline and effort. But he didn't know many people, given that he lived in an ashram located in dense woodland far from the cities and the press of people. His brothers ribbed him about it, as brothers are wont to do.

'I could rest an anvil on your shoulders,' Vishwa had said.

'And still have room for a dozen hammers. We should give the plough bull a rest and strap you in.'

Vishwa exaggerated about such things, but I do have prodigious shoulders, Ramabhadra thought proudly. He found relief in physical action, in the doing of things. As a child, he had badgered an old Kshatriya renunciate called Veera into teaching him to use a sword. The man had fashioned a mock sword out of bamboo and tried to humour the child. That was until he realised, in amazement, how quickly the boy learnt the exercise forms, how fluidly he moved, and how easily he made the mock sword into an extension of his arm.

Veera had approached the boy's father and narrated everything to him. Jamadagni had agreed to his proposition: Veera would instruct Rama in the martial arts and the use of weapons. He had set aside time from Rama's study of the Vedas, mantras, rituals and chants for his martial arts practice. Jamadagni would watch Rama's training, noting his skill and natural talent. Soon, he started teaching Rama the secrets of Dhanurveda and the science of weapons.

Those days held the happiest memories for Rama. He had taken to the training like a duck to water, an eagle to the skies, and soon gloried in his mastery.

'You have the spirit of a warrior and the blood of a Kshatriya, boy,' Veera had bellowed. 'You are no Brahmin.'

'Maybe I'm both,' Rama had retorted.

Days and years passed, and finally the day came when Veera had expressed his desire to move on.

'Kailasa calls,' he had said, gazing wistfully north.

'Grant me permission, Swami,' he had addressed Jamadagni. 'I've taught Rama all I know. He excels his teacher now. He's no ordinary child.'

'That is true,' Jamadagni had said. 'Go with my blessings, Veera. May you find what you seek.'

Rama had been distraught seeing Veera walk away in the distance. Unshed tears had filmed his eyes as he had vowed to honour the old man by practising every day.

He missed Veera. His easy demeanour and bellowing laugh belied his strict discipline when it came to practice. I hope you are well, old man, thought Rama. I wish we meet again someday.

Dawn had broken. His brothers and the renunciates would have finished their sandhyavandana. The lessons and rituals for the day would have started too. Rama bathed in the Narmada, at a gentle ford in the mighty river, banked by armies of lotuses and lilies. Damselflies were already abuzz, flitting back and forth. The light of dawn bathed the river and the forest in exhilarating beauty.

Rama was at home in the forest and privy to its secrets. He knew where to find the Nirgunda trees. The smoke from their burning leaves kept away mosquitoes and soothed cough. He could track animals by their scent and droppings, and knew the small cave where the fruit bats nested. Once, he had spotted a black panther by the river and, fascinated by the powerful beauty of this elusive beast, tracked it across the Vindhyas for days.

AN ODE TO TRAIN JOURNEYS

URBAN BOURBON
Hriday Ranjan
Writer, comedian

THE recent tragedy with Indian Railways was heartbreaking for a number of reasons. It occured in my home state, and in my paternal district. Earlier, people would offer prayers and condolences to such tragedies. But with social media, we resort to mud-slinging and political conspiracies. Personally, I couldn't remember the last time I travelled in a train. Upper middle-class Indians have moved on to flights and SUVs for travel.

Trains have been an essential part of the lives of most Indians in my generation. The flight is often the most cumbersome part of a journey today. But train journeys were often as exciting as the holiday itself. We always knew of Indian Railways as the largest employer in the world. But trains were an ecosystem – a universe – in themselves.

Indians didn't merely take to trains – we used the classic Indian methods of 'jugaads' and 'adjusting'. Tickets were booked months in advance, usually after making a call to a distant relative who worked in the Railways. If a busy station was approaching, parents asked children to spread their legs out and lie down, so freeloaders wouldn't take the seats. Towels were tied to the side-upper seats for children to sleep. Newspapers and handkerchiefs were used like flags to 'reserve' seats – a system that worked beyond the usual ticket reservation system.

Indian films contributed to the myth of Indian Railways too – by depicting numerous love stories that were born in trains. I would often check the reservation charts looking for my soulmate, only to find 'Ashok Kumar 45M' sitting next to me. While love stories never sprouted for me in trains, friendships were quite common. It began with a basic interrogation – Where are you going? What do you do? The questions got more and more personal, finally ending with 'Do you want to have some rotis?'. What followed was a communal dinner among the passengers. Home cooked food was served along with pickles and buttermilk. If you were a daredevil, you could order the train meals and get good exercise by walking to and from the washroom a few times a day.

Train journeys usually lasted a few days in my case, and it was important not to make enemies along the journey. Suitcases and bags were locked up under the lower berths using metal chains. Relatives would often drop off food, or simply visit the station to speak to the passengers for a few minutes. At important stations, I would wait anxiously for my father to return after filling the water bottles. Trains were crucial in me developing a reading habit. As the train chugged along from state to state, I befriended Chacha Chaudhary, Sabu and Suppandi. I later graduated to Sherlock Holmes, and entered the diabolical worlds of Sidney Sheldon. We usually travelled in large groups, and reading was the only way I could avoid the mind-numbing antakshari sessions that children were forced to join.

By the end of the journey, we would walk out of the temporary metal homes, covered in grime and soot. Train journeys were the beginning of adventures that came with summer vacations. When the vacations ended, the train journey back was the final instalment of joy that I was allowed. In many ways, train journeys in the '90s were an analogy of life. We are all going to get off our trains in the end, and have to live peacefully with our co-passengers. As the nation grapples with the tragedy, I can only hope that the families find solace and comfort. Whoever created the quote 'It is not about the destination, it is about the journey' – did it while travelling in a train.

Rakshit Shetty

SAPTA SAGARADAACHE ELLO TO BE RELEASED IN TWO PARTS

Director Hemanth M Rao explains the rationale behind presenting the 'Side A' and 'Side B' of this intense love drama. The film, starring Rakshit Shetty in two shades, will have its release dates announced on June 15

A SHARADHAA

TEAM Sapta Sagaradaache Ello made a special announcement on Tuesday to celebrate actor-producer Rakshit Shetty's birthday. Interestingly, the makers are presenting this intense love drama as a two-part series, and the release dates will be revealed on June 15. Unlike other projects that label their parts as Part 1 and Part 2, this team has chosen to refer to them as Side A and Side B, and it has caught all our attention. Hemanth M Rao, in his interaction with CE, explains the decision to make it a two-part series. He says, "In the teaser, we have featured a cassette, which plays a crucial role and is closely tied to the story. That's one of the reasons we decided to call them 'Side A' and 'Side B'."

The film is bankrolled under Rakshit Shetty's home banner, Paramvah Studios, also stars Rukmini Vasanth and Chaithra Achar as the female leads and has music composed by Charan Raj, and cinematography is handled by Advaitha Gurumurthy.

While two-part series have become a trend, mostly in the action and commercial entertainment genres, and Hemanth Rao explains the rationale behind presenting the intense love drama in two parts. He says, "Any story can be divided into multiple parts, just like a web series with various episodes that come together to form a complete story. Similarly, our story has a sense of epicness. Besides being an intense love drama, it incorporates various elements and life lessons. There is also action. To simply put, Sapta Sagaradaache Ello is like a poem, and the poetic journey can be fully enjoyed when presented in two parts. Of course, there will inevitably be comparisons between having an action-oriented film and a love story in two parts, but that will be best explained when the audience watches it in theaters."

Hemanth clarifies that their decision to make a two-part series was not driven by the hype surrounding popular franchises released in two parts. It was a conscious choice to stay true to the story. He says, "As a director, I treat each of my films as if it were my first and last. This has been my guiding principle. Godi Banna Sadharna Mykattu had its innocence, and the same can be said with my second outing, Kavaludaari. Similarly, this film carries that innocence. I had written this story long before Godhi Banna..., and I always wanted it to be my debut film. I waited for years to tell this story. In fact, I discussed it with Rakshit Shetty when I gave him the script reading. However, we chose not to announce it back then because there was already a lot of hype around films like KGF and Baahubali being released in two parts, and we didn't want it to seem like we were following a trend. We have actually completed shooting both parts of the series and are now announcing the release dates."

Unlike other projects that have a significant gap between the release of Part 1 and Part 2, this team has decided to release Side A and Side B in quick succession. Hemanth says, "The audience can enjoy the second part while the memories of Part 1 are still fresh in their minds." He also reveals that Side A will have a runtime of two hours and fifteen minutes, while Side B will be two hours and twenty minutes. The director had previously announced that Sapta Sagaradaache Ello would be released in July. Now, it remains to see on which dates they plan to hit the theatres.

MAKE LOVE, NOT WAR

Film: Fallen Leaves

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

NAMRATA JOSHI

ANSA and Holappa have just come out of their first movie date at the Ritz theatre. How did she like the film, he asks her. "I never laughed so much," she says. Ansa (Alma Pöysti) and Holappa (Jussi Vatanen) are the protagonists in Finnish auteur Aki Kaurismaki's new film Fallen Leaves which premiered in the competition section of the Cannes Film Festival. The film under discussion within the film is Jim Jarmusch's zombie comedy The Dead Don't Die that, incidentally, was the opening film at Cannes in 2019.

Later, outside the theatre, standing by the poster of David Lean's 1945 classic, Brief Encounter, Holappa tells Ansa that he doesn't even know her name. "I'll tell you next time," she says, scribbling her phone number on a piece of paper. Time spent well together at the movies holds the promise of another date.

"In a crooked little town, they were lost and never found. Fallen leaves, fallen leaves, fallen leaves on the ground"—the opening lines of the popular song "Fallen Leaves" by Canadian rock band Billy Talent could well be a description of Ansa and Holappa—single, lonely, cast adrift in Helsinki. She works in the supermarket and, later, sorts out plastic to make a living. He is also from the working class, an alcoholic. Both are seeking love yet unsure of it, hesitant about giving in to it. An accidental meeting throws a possibility at them of finding companionship in each other. Will love find a way to them? Or will it be another lost chance?

What follows is a tale of a relationship taking a wrong turn because of a lost piece of paper and an unforeseen mishap. Is romance impossible for them, like it was for Laura and Alec in Brief Encounter?

Fallen Leaves might feel like a very simple and straightforward film on paper, and it truly is, but in a good way. There are the poker-faced characters, their banal routines, the automated existence finding release in alcohol, cigarettes and karaoke. It is matched by the film's own formal, staccato rhythm and aesthetic minimalism. However, the invocation of solitariness is not entirely marked by sadness. Then there are sudden, brilliant bursts of characteristic Scandinavian deadpan humour that make you smile. Like a macho singer at the karaoke reminding that "tough guys don't sing". Or two cinephiles discussing Jarmusch's film in the same breath as Jean-Luc Godard and Robert Bresson.

Love might be reticent in Kaurismaki's world but not entirely absent. It comes home to Ansa in the form of a stray, who she names Chaplin. Dogs after all are unconditionally giving where humans stay woefully stingy with emotions. Incidentally, the mutt who played Chaplin won the Grand Jury prize in Palm Dog, the independent canine competition at Cannes, even as the film itself won the jury prize in the official competition section.

Like the filmmaking itself, the romance might feel spartan but eventually turns out rich, beautiful and affirming with the deceptively easy but fabulously synergistic performances from Pöysti and Vatanen. And moreso with Kaurismaki's thoughtful and thought-through homages to Cinema. The radio broadcast of the Russian aggression in Ukraine forms a permanent soundtrack in the film as much as Kaurismaki's pick of his own favourite songs. The choice of music along with Jarmusch's film on the zombie apocalypse becomes emblematic of the larger catastrophes and devastation in the real world.

Ansa and Holappa's concerted search for love then is like a counter-dote. The two might be in need of it but so is the world at large, more now than ever before. Kaurismaki fashions a gentle, profound, hopeful cinematic gem about the human condition in Fallen Leaves that is of the times yet timeless.
